Gunman Admits Killing Mountie

REGINA (CP)—A burly, gun-toting vagrant was in jail here today awaiting interrogation by Montreal police in connection with the May 25 slaying of R.C.M.P. constable Alexander Gamman, 58.

The man, with 26 cents in his pockets, his shoes worn through and a recent bullet wound in his left thigh, was captured by Sheriff Pat Horton near White-tail, Mont., a dozen miles south of the Saskatchewan border, Saturday night.

The R.C.M.P. said the man, who gave his name as Thomas Rossler, 45, made an "oral admission" while in custody here.

"I didn't mean to shoot the Mountie," police quoted him as saying.

Defective Lieut. Russell Senecal of the Montreal city police is expected to arrive here late today by plane to question Rossler.

In Montreal, Inspector J. R. Lemieux of the R.C.M.P.'s criminal investigation bureau, said: "We're pretty sure this is our man. He answers the description of the man who killed Constable Gamman."

Gamman, unarmed guard at the Bank of Canada in Montreal, was shot down when he tried to stop an unsuccessful bank bandit May 25.

SHOT AT BANK
The bandit, fleeing from the Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill, first shot down bank manager Stan Bickley and then shot Gamman when the policeman grappled with him. Gamman died 35 hours later. Police believe the gunman accidentally shot himself in the leg during the scuffle.

When Gamman died, an extensive police search was touched off. Montreal taxi-driver Dorilas Bolduc said he drove the bandit from the downtown area to the eastern tip of Montreal Island. There, the killer obtained soap, a towel and overalls and disappeared.

A check of hotels and rooming houses disclosed that the most likely suspect was a "C. Loring" or "C. Loring" who had lived at a dingy downtown Montreal hotel. Police said he was more than six feet tall, from 40 to 45 years of age and weighed about 215 pounds.

KEY FOUND
The killer's trail then showed up in Hornepayne, in Ontario. The key to "C. Loring's" Mont-

8 Areas Fight Merger Plan Of Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Eight of the 12 suburban municipalities in the Greater Toronto area today filed with the Ontario Municipal Board a joint submission opposing the city's application to amalgamate the smaller units.

Toronto's first application for "progressive amalgamation" was dismissed on a technicality. The city made a new application on which the board today opened hearings.

The joint submission agreed that unification of certain services is necessary, but challenged the city's annexation plan for achieving it.

The brief proposed a metropolitan area board which would have jurisdiction over certain essential services only: water supply, trunk sewers and sewage disposal, highways and transportation.

The joint brief was from the County of York, the towns of New Toronto and Weston, the townships of Etobicoke and North York, and the villages of Forest Hill, Long Branch and Swansea.

Leaside, Scarborough, East York and Mimico have filed separate briefs.

Slight Earth Tremor At Knoxville, Tenn.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—A slight earth tremor shook this city and the surrounding area early today.

Knoxville is about 20 miles south of the atomic energy centre at Oak Ridge, Tenn., but police said the tremor was not caused by an explosion.

Persons calling police headquarters and radio stations said the earth seemed to shake about midnight "just enough to feel it." No damage was reported.

FILLING EMPTY COMMONS SEATS

By - Elections Today Will Have Little Effect On House Strength

OTTAWA (CP)—Membership in the 262-seat Commons was being brought to full strength today through by-elections—two in Nova Scotia and one in Montreal.

The contests—the 11th, 12th and 13th since the general election a year ago—are in the farm constituency of Annapolis-Kings, in the dual riding of Halifax and in Montreal-Cartier. Liberals were elected in the three seats in the general election.

Four candidates are in the running in Montreal-Cartier, formerly held by the late Maurice Hart, Liberal.

Leon David Crestohl, a lawyer, is the Liberal standard-bearer. Maurice S. Hebert, another lawyer, is running for the Progressive Conservatives. Kaimon Kapalsky, a printer, is the C.C.F. candidate. The Labor-Progressive Party, which twice carried the seat, is represented by Harry Binder, a journalist.

Mr. Binder and Mr. Hebert were Candidates in the general election June 27. Then the vote was Mr. Hart, Liberal, 11,983; Mr. Binder, Labor-Progressive, 4,868; A. M. Klein, C.C.F., 3,240; Mr. Hebert, 2,636.

The polls opened at 9 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m. E.D.T.

In Annapolis-Kings it is a straight fight between the two major political parties. The seat was declared vacant after the Nova Scotia Supreme Court had voided the election of Angus Elderkin, Liberal winner in the general election, because of irregularities.

Mr. Elderkin is opposed by George Nowlan, Progressive

Millionaire Bookie-60 Times Guilty He Pleads

NEW YORK (AP)—Millionaire gambler Frank Erickson pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiracy and bookmaking.

Erickson, admitted operator of a nation-wide bookmaking business, made the plea when he was brought into special sessions court for the opening of his trial.

The plea of guilty to all 60 counts against him was entered by his attorney.

The maximum penalty on each count of the charge is a year in jail and a $500 fine, which makes the big-time gambler subject to a possible sentence of 60 years in prison and $30,000 in fines.

The information charged one count of conspiracy and 59 counts of bookmaking. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said he would ask the "stiffer sentence" for the gambler.

Mr. Justice Perlman set June

26 for sentencing Erickson who continued in $10,000 bail.

Hogan said he saw no reason why the 54-year-old defendant "should not be sent to jail for a long time." The gambler never has spent a day in jail.

Speculation circulated that the guilty plea was entered as a means of protecting big-money bettors. Some of these business-bettors wagered up to $15,000 daily through Erickson.

Several of them had appeared before the grand jury which made the charges against Erickson.

Aboard were 126 lei-bedecked Hawaiian marine reserves and 18 crew members. The marines were en route to nearby Camp Pendleton for two weeks of training.

Several hours later, a sister ship, The Hawaii Mars, landed here with 104 aboard. It also carried marine reserves and came from Honolulu after a stop at Alameda, Calif.

Board Refuses 40-Hour Week For Hospital
Employees of St. Joseph's Hospital were refused a 40-hour work week in a majority report of a conciliation board made known today by the Labor Relations Board.

The report, signed by R. B. Longridge and Harry Berger, recommended present 44-hour per week remain in effect.

Wage increases were recommended as follows: Chief engineer $1.40 per hour; shift engineer, $1.25; firemen, $1.05.

The employees are members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 918.

As regards a request for union shop the report recommended inclusion of a clause in the working agreement to the effect all employees who have not tendered their resignations from this union on or before two months prior to the expiration of the agreement, shall retain their membership in the union.

It is also recommended that two weeks' vacation with pay be granted after one year's continuous service.

MacArthur Wants U.S. To Save Formosa From Reds
TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today outlined the U.S. defence position in the Red-menaced Asia for Defence Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar Bradley. He was reported to have called it serious but not hopeless.

The commander of the U.S. forces in the Far East, it was understood, also urged prompt American assistance to Formosa, last stand bastion of the Chinese nationalists, and for southeast Asia.

Military aspects of a Japanese peace treaty also were believed under discussion in the three-hour conference with the secretary and the chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff. This would involve the vital matter of American bases in Japan.

The talks here are expected to lay the foundation for decisions in Washington on Far Eastern policy.

Seven Sawmills Close Resort Hotel Swamped

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Flood waters coursed through five British Columbia towns as dikes crumbled under the incessant pounding of swollen mountain rivers.

The flooded communities are Princeton, Harrison Hot Springs, Minto, Doreen and Usk. In addition, several hundred acres of farmland at Pemberton Meadows are inundated.

Seven sawmills in the Fraser Valley were closed because floodwaters surrounded them.

Swollen by melting snows in the mountains and recent storms, the river maintained terrific pressure on the network of dikes erected following the devastating 1948 floods.

The public weather office indicated no let-up was in sight. The forecast was for thunderstorms and continued hot weather in the Fraser River headwater area.

1,500 REFUGEES
The number of flood refugees throughout the province was estimated to be 1,500.

A dike broke at Princeton and the Similkameen River tore five houses from their foundations Sunday. They were last seen floating down the river.

British Columbia's well-known Harrison Hot Springs resort centre was partially inundated by the Harrison Lake. The post office was abandoned, seven auto courts were under two feet of water and more than a dozen families had been evacuated.

Harrison Hot Springs Hotel had two feet of water in the basement.

Canadian army engineers were sandbagging roads and buildings. Village Commissioner Col. A. M. Nalmsmith said.

The town's 500 permanent residents were ready for anything, he said. "The water creeps ahead much like the Manitoba floods," Col. Nalmsmith reported.

"It's not at all like the rushing kind of flooding in the Fraser Valley."

DIKE GIVES WAY
A dike at Pemberton Meadows gave way during the week-end, flooding several hundred acres of farmland and surrounding farm houses. At Fort Langley, the Fraser River crumbled part of the dike diking. It has been repaired, however, before much water flowed through.

Gun Creek in the Bridge River Valley of Central British Columbia, rose three feet in 90 minutes Sunday night. Two feet of water swirled through Minto and carried several homes and buildings with it. The town's 250 residents were camped in a tent city on high ground back of Minto.

The whole upper half of the Bridge River Valley housing about 4,000 persons was isolated from the rest of the province, provincial police constable Norman Gibbon said.

Northwest U.S. Rivers Rising To Flood Mark

SPOKANE (AP)—The chief danger points along the United States Pacific northwest's rambling rivers lay to the north-east and southwest of here today.

At Bonners Ferry in northern Idaho, the Kootenai River, which pushed above its 31-foot flood stage early Saturday, churned to a 31.8-foot level late Sunday.

Dikes around the town have been built up to 37 feet, but most of 30,000 acres of rich farmland in the area is protected by dikes four feet lower—33 feet.

NEARING CREST
The Spokane Weather Bureau predicted the Kootenai's muddy, steadily-rising waters will reach a 33-foot peak by Tuesday. After that the water level is expected to drop.

National Guardsmen were called from Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene to help work on dikes. Volunteer laborers are already battling the swollen waters.

To the southwest, new flood warnings were issued as steadily-rising headwaters brought increasing danger.

The weather bureau revised an earlier prediction to warn the Columbia would reach 24.3 at Vancouver, Wash., by Thursday. That would be 9.3 feet over the 15-foot flood stage, and would be the second highest level on the river since 1933.

Almost 2,000 Homeless, 23 Die In Storms
By United Press

Twenty-one persons were killed in a series of week-end storms and floods that drove almost 2,000 persons in the U.S. from their homes and isolated 4,000 others as a wave of Arctic air surged across the continent.

Warmer weather and thunderstorms were predicted for the Pacific northwest, where floods plagued a vast area and left seven persons dead.

Nine Connecticut men drowned when their light plane crashed and burned near Hayes, S.D. Investigators were attempting to determine whether turbulent weather over the plains caused the crash.

The widespread storms and floods in the east were blamed on a "cold wave" that struck the area.

NORTH SASK. RIVER RISING

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—A sudden rise in the North Saskatchewan River within the next 24 hours was predicted today by John Anderson, Dominion river observer. He based his forecast on a seven-foot rise upstream at Edmonton during the week-end.

Here the river level remained stationary through the week-end. It now is more than 1 1/2 feet above normal but still more than eight feet from flood stage.

Bakers Sueing Seattle Union For Huge Sum

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle bakery operators today filed a suit against striking workers of local 9, Bakers' and Helpers' Union (A.F.L.), union officials and the international seeking damages of $600,000 a month.

The action was filed in superior court by the Seattle Bakers Bureau, Inc., an employers group.

The suit charges the union broke its contract in Saturday's walkout by failing to give 60-day notice of contract termination.

Bakers in Portland and Los Angeles are also idle in an effort to enforce demands for a five-consecutive day, 35-hour work week. Bakers in Spokane voted to stay on the job in an eleventh-hour decision.

The complaint asked $600,000 a month for damages due to losses during the strike, plus special damages "that cannot be determined at this time."

The walkout has cut off some 95 per cent of the bread supply in Seattle, Everett and Bremerton. Some 1,200 bakers and affiliated workers are participating in the strike, which has made idle and additional 2,500 persons.

Bridges' Stand Now Uncertain

MELBOURNE (AP)—Immigration Minister Harold Holt of Australia said today that if Harry Bridges is deprived of his United States citizenship he probably would be regarded by Australia as a stateless person.

A federal court in San Francisco ruled Friday that Bridges, the Australian-born labor leader, convicted of perjury, must relinquish his rights to U.S. citizenship.

Holt said that revocation of citizenship would not automatically restore Australian nationality to Bridges, and that if application were made for Bridges' admission to Australia it would be viewed in the light of current immigration policy.

Vagrant Held In Regina Jail As Montreal Slaying Investigated

REGINA (CP)—A burly, gun-toting vagrant was in jail here today awaiting interrogation by Montreal police in connection with the May 25 slaying of R.C.M.P. Constable Alexander Gamman, 58.

The man, with 26 cents in his pockets, his shoes worn through and a recent bullet wound in his left thigh, was captured by Sheriff Pat Horton near Whitecourt, Mont., a dozen miles south of the Saskatchewan border, Saturday night.

The R.C.M.P. said the man, who gave his name as Thomas Rossler, 45, made an "oral admission" while in custody here. "I didn't mean to shoot the Mountie," police quoted him as saying.

Rossler appeared in police court today and was remanded in jail for one week on a charge of carrying a gun.

FROM MONTREAL

Detective Lieut. Russell Senecal of the Montreal city police is expected to arrive here late today by plane to question Rossler.

In Montreal, Inspector J. R. Lemieux of the R.C.M.P.'s criminal investigation bureau, said: "We're pretty sure this is our man. He answers the description of the man who killed Constable Gamman."

Gamman, unarmed guard at the Bank of Canada in Montreal, was shot down when he tried to stop an unsuccessful bank bandit May 25.

MAY BE $5,000 DOWN

May 24 Group Seeks To Recoup Losses

Greater Victoria Celebrations Association went financially in the hole over the May 24 festivities and are now seeking ways and means to meet liabilities. This information was contained in a letter to Mayor Percy George and council today from Reeve A. I. Thomas, chairman of the association.

Directors of the association have evolved a campaign to enroll associate members by sale of membership tickets entitling the member to participate in "benefits and activities of the association."

When queried later on as to whether the association felt it could raise the deficit by offering the memberships, Reeve Thomas did not elaborate on his letter.

The deficit may be in the neighborhood of $5,000. The reeve said accounts were coming in slowly and he could not give a figure.

$14,600 BUDGET

He said the association had $6,000 actual cash in the kitty when it began plans for the May 24 festivities. The budget called for expenditure of $14,600, but was cut down when the association saw it would not have sufficient funds.

When asked why such a budget when there was only $6,000 on hand, he said the association figured on raising the balance through the sale of booster bus. The public, he contended, did not support the May 24 celebrations this year as it has in the past. He said last year's budget was $21,000.

"There was passive resistance all the way down the line but I cannot put my finger on it," he said. "We did not get the support of all organizations."

When asked if there were not definite differences of opinion with regard to the celebrations before they got under way, he said there must have been, but "I couldn't get to the bottom of it."

He denied that any organization was cut out of its usual assignment, but said some organizations only wanted to do as they wished, not contribute to the general picture.

When asked if he thought the fact that the Indians were not invited to take part in the events at the Gorge this year had anything to do with the public's "passive resistance," he said he did not think so. This year's Gorge problem was in the hands of the navy.

The reeve asked City Council approval and consent to sell tickets on the street in order to recoup losses and stated in his letter the chief of police had referred the matter to council for consent and approval.

EASTERNERS VOTING UNDER CLEAR SKIES

Hint Freedom For 2 Held By Hungary Near

U.S. Likely To Meet Three Stipulations

LONDON (UP)—The United States has agreed tentatively to three Hungarian conditions for the release of Robert Vogeler, U.S. business man imprisoned in Hungary on spy charges, reliable sources reported today.

The sources said Vogeler might be freed soon, along with his British associate, Edgar Sanders. Vogeler, executive of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was sentenced to 15 years in prison. Sanders got 13 years.

Informants said the United States, to secure the release of Vogeler, agreed tentatively in negotiations with Hungary:

1. To permit Hungary to re-open consulates in the U.S. They were closed on American orders after the trial of Vogeler and Sanders in Budapest.

2. To release war reparations that Hungary has demanded from Germany, and the German-held Hungarian crown jewels, including the historic crown of St. Stephen.

3. To lift the State Department ban on American travel in Hungary.

Informants said Vogeler might be freed this week. They said Sanders also might be released soon, but probably not at the same time as Vogeler.

British authorities were understood to have hedged on the Hungarian conditions for the release of Sanders.

Reliable sources in Vienna disclosed that Anglo-American negotiations with Hungary had been going on for some time, and said they might be about to culminate in the release of the two men.

Cause of the boost in prices was attributed to the usual summer lag in production.

Anglo-Canada Trade Parley Under Way

LONDON (CP)—Canadian trade talks opened today under the chairmanship of L. Dana Wilgress, the Dominion's High Commissioner in London.

The Canadian delegation was headed by Max Mackenzie, deputy minister of trade, Sir Henry Wilson-Smith of the Treasury headed the British officials.

A Canada House official said the talks probably will last a week and will cover all aspects of trade relations between the two countries.

Canada's trade with the sterling area as a whole, including Britain's colonies, also will be considered.

One of the main aims will be measures designed to increase the flow of British exports to Canada.

The officials meeting this first day of the talks comprise what is officially known as the Anglo-Canadian continuing committee on trade and economic affairs. It was set up two years ago after a visit to Canada by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and meets every six months.

Accompanying Mackenzie at the talks were J. G. Taggart, Canada's deputy minister of agriculture; J. J. Deutsch of the finance department, and J. Grand-Major of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Four Other Communities In B.C. Hit By Flood

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—A state of emergency was declared in Harrison Hot Springs today and the 500 residents were being evacuated.

Harrison is about 70 miles east of Vancouver. Flood waters coursed through the village and four other British Columbia towns as dikes crumbled under the incessant pounding by swollen mountain rivers.

"We've lost the fight," said Mrs. A. N. Naismith, wife of Col. Naismith, Commissioner of Harrison Hot Spring. "The women and children are being evacuated first and then the men will go," she said.

"The colonel declared a state of emergency this morning." Up to three feet of flood water from Harrison Lake covered most of the town and the city

Johnson Happy Fraser Dikes Holding Firm

Premier Byron Johnson is optimistic the Fraser River will not run amok as it did in 1948.

The Premier visited the lower valley Saturday and flew to the mainland again this afternoon to see what changes had occurred.

"I'm not saying it can't happen," said Mr. Johnson when asked if it looked as though disastrous flooding was in store. "But our new dikes are holding with only a little seepage in some sections."

Premier Johnson said the danger zone, "if you can call it that," was in the Nicomen Island area.

Where seepage was occurring, dikes were wide enough to allow trucks to haul gravel for reinforcement, and bulldozers were busy pushing the material over the spots where the water was bubbling up through the ground.

"Yes, I'm really very happy with the new dikes," Mr. Johnson said.

There was conflicting advice on upper Fraser run-off data, the Premier said.

It was believed, though, that reports of a slackening in the amount of water coming from the mountains were correct. The effect would be felt in the lower Fraser Valley in about two days, the water level dropping.

FILLING EMPTY COMMONS SEATS

By-Elections Today Will Have Little Effect On House Strength

OTTAWA (CP)—Membership in the 262-seat Commons was being brought to full strength today through by-elections—two in Nova Scotia and one in Montreal.

The contests—the 11th, 12th and 13th since the general election a year ago—are in the farm-constituency of Annapolis-Kings, in the dual riding of Halifax and in Montreal-Cartier. Liberals were elected in the three seats in the general election.

Four candidates are in the running in Montreal-Cartier, formerly held by the late Maurice Hart, Liberal.

Leon David Crestohl, a lawyer, is the Liberal standard-bearer. Maurice S. Hebert, another lawyer, is running for the Progressive Conservatives. Kaimen Kaplansky, a printer, is the C.C.F. candidate. The Labor-Progressive Party, which twice carried the seat, is represented by Harry Binder, a journalist.

Mr. Binder and Mr. Hebert were candidates in the general election June 27. Then the vote was Mr. Hart, Liberal, 11,993; Mr. Binder, Labor-Progressive, 4,868; A. M. Klein, C.C.F., 3,240; Mr. Hebert, 2,636.

The polls opened at 9 a.m., will close at 7 p.m., E.D.T.

In Annapolis-Kings it is a straight fight between the two major political parties. The seat was declared vacant after the Nova Scotia Supreme Court had voided the election of Angus Elderkin, Liberal winner in the general election, because of irregularities.

Mr. Elderkin is opposed by George Nowlan, Progressive Conservative, whom he nosed out in the general election. At that time, Mr. Elderkin polled 13,203 votes to 13,198 for Mr. Nowlan, who had won the traditionally Liberal seat for the Progressive Conservatives in a 1948 by-election.

In the dual constituency of Halifax three candidates are in the running—Samuel Balcour, president of the Board of Trade, represents the Liberals; Lloyd Allen, a contractor and an R.C.

A.P. veteran, the Progressive Conservatives, and Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, retired United Church minister, the C.C.F.

The campaigns, possibly because of the large majority the government holds in the Commons—186 to 76 all others—have attracted little attention outside of the boundaries of the constituencies.

Reds Defeated In Rhineland, Ruhr Election

DUESSELDORF (UP)—Final returns showed today that the Ruhr and Rhineland voted for the Christian Democrats. The Communist Party, which had won the traditionally Liberal seat for the Progressive Conservatives in a 1948 by-election.

Voters in North Rhine-Westphalia approved by a better than three-to-two majority a new state constitution which provides for government ownership of the great coal, iron, steel and power industries of the Ruhr and Rhineland.

The vote was 3,627,808 to 2,237,720. At the same time, the state elected a new state parliament of 215 members and gave West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Conservative Christian Democratic Party a thumping plurality, but not a majority.

Most significant result of the election was the failure of the Communist Party to elect a single deputy by popular vote. Under proportional representation, however, the party will get 12 seats in the new parliament.

Rich Bookie Pleads Guilty On 60 Counts

NEW YORK (AP)—Millionaire gambler Frank Erickson pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiracy and bookmaking.

Erickson, admitted operator of a nation-wide bookmaking business, made the plea when he was brought into special sessions court for the opening of his trial. The plea of guilty to all 60 counts against him was entered by his attorney.

The maximum penalty on each count of the charge is a year in jail and a $500 fine, which makes the big-time gambler subject to a possible sentence of 60 years in prison and $30,000 in fines. The information charged one count of conspiracy and 59 counts of bookmaking. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said he would ask the "stiffest sentence" for the gambler.

SENTENCE JUNE 26

Mr. Justice Perlman set June 26 for sentencing. Erickson was continued in $10,000 bail.

Hogan said he saw no reason why the 54-year-old defendant "should not be sent to jail for a long time." The gambler never has spent a day in jail.

Speculation circulated that the guilty plea was entered as a means of protecting big-money bettors. Some of these business-men-bettors wagered up to $15,000 daily through Erickson.

Several of them had appeared before the grand jury which made the charges against Erickson.

Charged with dangerous driving when he scared a man and a woman by driving a car at them, Patrick Medd, employee of a city service station, pleaded guilty in city police court today and was fined $50 by Magistrate H. C. Hall. His driver's license was suspended for three months.

Court action arose on the information and complaint lodged by Fred Kushner, H.M.C.S. Ontario.

Kushner said Medd had driven his car right at him and his girl companion on June 11 on Williams Street. Complainant said he did not know whether Medd intended to hit them or not. They were not hit.

Medd said he had nothing to say in regard to his actions when questioned by Magistrate Hall.

MacArthur Wants U.S. To Save Formosa From Reds

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today outlined the U.S. defence position in the Remenaced Asia for Defence Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar Bradley. He was reported to have called it serious but not hopeless.

The commander of the U.S. forces in the Far East, it was understood, also urged prompt American assistance to Formosa, last-stand bastion of the Chinese Nationalists, and for southeast Asia.

Military aspects of a Japanese peace treaty also were believed under discussion in the three-hour conference with the secretary and the chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff. This would involve the vital matter of American bases in Japan.

The talks here are expected to lay the foundation for decisions in Washington on Far Eastern policy.

What The Banker Says

CANADA'S JEREMIAHS AND SOCIAL-economic planners who were telling us a year or so ago that this country was in for a terrible depression and a condition similar to the 'thirties unless private enterprise gave way to some form of statism will not have been cheered by one specific statement which Mr. J. U. Boyer, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, made at the annual meeting of his organization in Montreal last week. This was that "more Canadians have more money in the chartered banks than ever before, and the average account is higher."

In his general review of the more significant features of the banking situation Mr. Boyer revealed that at March 31, 1950, the public had $6,971 million in nearly 8,000,000 deposit accounts. This was an increase of $422 million in a year or 6 1/2 per cent. Savings were up $308 million and current accounts, $118 million. The number of accounts increased 365,000 between September 30, 1948, and September 30, 1949, and the average deposit was $873 compared to $828 in 1945. In savings alone, the average account moved up from $532 in 1945 to $637 in 1949.

The Bankers' Association president, quite properly imparting to the foregoing statistics their special significance at this stage of the nation's progress, dropped the pointed suggestion to Canadians that they would be well advised to invest in the profitable development of the abundant resources and rich opportunities of their own country. By doing so, of course, they would be contributing in no uncertain fashion to the national enrichment in the way of jobs and production. Mr. Boyer, obviously had in mind the fundamental fact that only by a practical manifestation on the part of Canadians of their belief in the future of their own land would it be possible to increase the national wealth. Here are his own words:

"By stimulating among Canadians generally a lively consciousness of the opportunities for their own enrichment in which their own country abounds—and of the job-creating importance of venture and investment—thinking men can make a really effective contribution toward the permanency of employment and prosperity so much to be desired."

In view of Mr. Boyer's injunction, plus his authentic assessment of the economic stability to which the average Canadian's prudence contributes, it is interesting to note part of a summary of our neighbor's business outlook as recorded in the latest issue of United States News and World Report. Briefly put, this shows that 50,700,000—exclusive of those in military service—Americans are gainfully employed, that construction jobs were considerably more plentiful in May than in April, both in factory work and in the retail business, that new workers coming into the labor field are finding their respective niches, that in the machinery and metal trades, as well as on the farms, present conditions and prospects are excellent. Since the economy of the two neighboring nations is so intimately linked in numerous ways, and because 165,000,000 people are enjoying the mutual respect of one another, the more and bigger the savings and other accounts grow, the greater the influence their collective prosperity is bound to wield in their future relationships.

In any case, Mr. Boyer's simple statement of fact to the Canadian Bankers' Association was no dry-as-dust pronouncement to a supposedly stolid audience of hard-shelled businessmen. It could and should be interpreted as a clarion call to the young people of this young Dominion to take a still more aggressive part in the development of their own land, instead of leaving too much to the initiative of those elsewhere who know a good thing when they see it.

The Sword Of Damocles

THE EYES OF THE DOMINION ARE turned today to the efforts of workers in the Fraser Valley to stem the rising flood waters of that great river. With a national awareness sharpened by the recent catastrophe in Manitoba and the memory of the British Columbia disaster of 1948, the public is watching the battle of the dikes for any hopeful signs of victory. The terrific strain under which the multi-million-dollar embankment system now stands will test to the full these costly defences. Constant patrols are being maintained. Hundreds of men are placing extra sandbags at strategic points. The word is that the water must go considerably higher than in 1948 before the dikes will be overwhelmed. Improvements that were made following that emergency have provided a much greater margin of safety. New construction and repairs to existing dikes totalled $11,000,000—an expenditure whose worth is now being demonstrated. At the same time, these are critical hours as the delayed Spring run-off of melted mountain snow surges through the valley to effect in a period of days what should have extended harmlessly over several weeks. There apparently is no lack of men or equipment at the present time, with civilian labor having been conscripted by order-in-council. Navy assistance will be forthcoming if needed, experienced army men are on the job, and the general public will respond to any further requirements. But such a state of emergency is not a situation we wish to see repeated every year or every other year. It is evident that some further preventive work must be planned on a more extensive basis. Dams and retaining lakes, although costly, may be the solution. But the thread supporting this sword of Damocles must be replaced by some more permanent support that will remove a serious threat to our economy.

District No. 63 Must Have More Schools

NEXT SATURDAY THE VOTERS OF School District No. 63—that is North Saanich and other parts of Saanich—not in the Greater Victoria School District—will go to the polls to pass Judgment on a $750,000 building by-law, half of which they will pay. The other $375,000 will be provided by the provincial government. That money is required to meet minimum needs in the district. It will care for immediate essentials and the buildings which are constructed will be of such a nature that they will permit extension when, or if, such is demanded in the future.

The projects covered in the plan include: a new Junior-Senior High School for the south end of the district, an auditorium-gymnasium for Mount Newton Junior-Senior High School, a four-room elementary school for Brentwood, an eight-room elementary school for Sidney, a one-room elementary school for Lochside, and the provision of adequate water supply and indoor sanitary facilities for schools which now lack them.

Three figures emphasize the essential character of the building program. In 1946 total enrolment in the district was 981. This year it had risen to 1,421. By 1955 it is expected to reach 2,400. That tells a complete story in itself.

The alternative to new buildings is the imposition of the unsatisfactory shift system in schools which no longer meet the needs of present day educational programs. That would be a distasteful and thoroughly unsatisfactory means of overcoming conditions which have now become intolerable.

One other point only need be raised in support of the by-law. Last fall it failed by the narrowest of margins to obtain the required two-thirds majority. On Saturday, there can be no valid excuse, short of incapacity, for those who favor the scheme and who are entitled to the franchise to absent themselves from the polls. The question of general welfare is at stake.

King Solomon's Mines Today Give Uganda A New Frontier

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN, from Kampala, Uganda

IN THE Mountains of the Moon, in the far west of Uganda, there is a young copper mine owned by a Canadian firm, Producers of Montreal. Probably it is the most important private undertaking in Uganda; and Uganda, though it is the smallest, promises to be by far the richest of the British controlled territories in East Africa.

The mine itself lies in the heart of a great mass of mountain which rises out of the hot African plain. There are herds of elephants playing on the edge of its lakes, and lions and innumerable buck. On the mountain there are leopards, but they are rarely seen.

At the end of a rough mountain road that seems painfully to force its way uphill through banana plantations and past primitive African huts, there lives a little colony of Canadians, Rhodesians, South Africans and Englishmen who are working to make this project a success. They live at the end of a steep and narrow valley, 58 miles from a post office or a shop.

Strange and enormous flowers grow on coarse trees; grass grows as high as a man's knee in four weeks; a long grey scar rises up the mountainside where the mine has been started.

In the shadow of this mineral richness, I met a young Canadian girl newly come out from home. She lives in a two-room house—a whitewashed, mud and wattle, four-square hut with a roof thatched with reeds. It stands in a mass of flowers and there are flowers all over the bare living room. There is a leopard skin on the floor, native photos on the wall and the simple wooden furniture was made by the White Fathers 50 miles down the road.

Denise Gordon comes from Noranda, in Quebec, and her husband, James Bruce Gordon, is a geologist from Toronto. They have four servants to their little house and these dark tribesmen move so slowly that she cannot do without them.

It is a seven-day week at the Kilombe mine. Yet, even though the mountain presses so closely, and it is so far from home and from all the things that other people take for granted, there is a sense of gaiety and urgency here, a feeling that men are once again asserting their manhood and making something out of a wilderness where before there was nothing. The Mountains of the Moon are that fabulous place where King Solomon was said to have his mines; other less fabulous people are doing his job today.

Deadline

By JOSEPH ALSOP From Washington

THE Soviet Union is not merely engaged in war preparation on a greater scale than Hitler's. All the vast Russian effort of rearmament is also timed and scheduled to produce results at a rather early date, which can already be foreseen. These are the key facts in the present world situation, and it will be well to present some of the supporting evidence.

Item 1: Russian atomic bomb production is estimated at the rate of six the first year, and 25 per year thereafter. This will provide the Kremlin with a stockpile of 80 or more atomic bombs by 1953-54.

Item 2: Russian production of strategic bombers is limited but rising. There are significant reports that the Kremlin may soon have the prototype of a very long-range bomber, roughly comparable to the American B-36. In any case, a Soviet strategic air force of at least 500 first-line planes of the B-29 type, with some second-line reserve, will certainly be created by 1953-54.

Item 3: Russian engineers are known to be directing the construction or improvement of between 30 and 40 major airfields in Eastern Europe. In Poland and East Germany alone, no less than 24 of these airfields have been or are being built, all with runways suitable for strategic bombers. This new airfield system, threatening all of western Europe and the British Isles, will be finished considerably before 1953-54.

Item 4: The new Russian jet interceptor-fighters are being produced at the rate of nearly 2,000 per year, and modern aircraft for close support of ground forces are also being turned out in quantity. The program of modernizing the Soviet air defence force and tactical air force will be completed in 1953-54.

Item 5: Improvement of the Soviet air warning net is also being pushed. Rather more than a year ago, an American B-29 reconnaissance plane tested the net on the Russian Pacific coast. Interception was attempted, but the radar warning system was so inefficient that the Russian fighters could never press home an attack. In contrast, we have the destruction of the American naval reconnaissance plane in the Baltic this spring. Russia can never be altogether protected against strategic air attack; yet an air warning net that will justify infinitely greater boldness in the Kremlin will be ready by 1953-54.

Item 6: In order to free the Red Army from garrison duty and line of communications assignments, the Kremlin is both seeking to assure the loyalty of the satellite forces by ruthless purges, and creating its new East German army. The East German army gives the timetable. It will be organized in regiments this summer or autumn and in divisions in 1952-53. Allowing a further shakedown period, the Kremlin will dispose of between eight and 12 new, fully ready German divisions in 1953-54.

MANY related facts could be cited. For example, Soviet tank output is running at the fantastic rate of above 3,000 per year. Soviet steel output has passed 20,000,000 tons a year, and is still rising. The satellites are being so thoroughly harnessed to the war effort, that the Czechs and Manfred Weiss works, in Slovakia and Hungary, are now being pushed to production levels surpassing their peak wartime production for Hitler. But there is no use piling up data, since almost every fragment of available evidence means that the Kremlin is planning to overawe the western world with unchallengeable strength in 1953-54.

This is the reason why Secretary of State Dean Acheson set 1953-54 as the great danger period. This is the reason why the other Atlantic pact foreign ministers at London set 1953-54 as the deadline for organizing a solid western defence.

IF THE resolution and directives of the London meeting are carried out in practice, the Kremlin's war preparations need cause no alarm. An obsolescent Russian strategic air force will not be terrifying if it is countered with a powerful, modern air defence. The Red Army, which cannot be hurried bodily across all of Europe, will not be terrifying if the West has no more than 40 powerful, thoroughly modern divisions to meet it. The dimensions of the problem must not be exaggerated. The West, with its vastly superior resources and potentially better weapons, can make a mockery of the Kremlin's threats if it chooses to do so.

BUT if we go on as we are going now—if the Pentagon merely continues to emit smokescreens about non-existent new weapons while the West remains a military vacuum—there can be only one outcome. All the existing deterrents will then fail. The Kremlin's power will then have full play. The western world, feeble, unarmed, divided and demoralized, will then gradually or rapidly collapse into ruin. That is the meaning of 1953-54.

'Package Budget' Proves Failure

By BRUCE BLOSSAT, from New York

A HOPEFUL congressional experiment, the single package federal budget bill, apparently is doomed to failure after a one-year try.

When leaders of both U.S. houses agreed to wrap all appropriations into one huge measure, they did so in the belief it might save money and valuable time. The theory was that the lawmakers would gain a much clearer notion of how and where to economize if they could see the whole budget pattern rather than isolated fragments. It was felt also that the plan would permit wiser decisions on taxation needs.

DISAPPOINTING OPERATION

Some time ago House money experts voiced disappointment over the actual operation of the idea. Now Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader in the Senate, has taken the same tack.

Rep. John Tamm, New York Republican, put it most bluntly for the House side. "It's a lemon," he declared. House leaders found it took just about as long to whip the single package appropriation into shape and steer it to passage as the old individual money bills required. Debate on the House floor, plus consideration of countless amendments, consumed four weeks. Managers of the bill said too many House members became bored at this lengthy study of a single subject. Attendance suffered and important parts of the bill didn't get the careful attention they deserved.

The feeling is that budget affairs will get better consideration when they are served up in smaller morsels interspersed with more varied legislative fare.

Though the omnibus measure won't reach the Senate floor for a few weeks at least, Senate leaders expect the same month-long review of the bill there. They aren't anticipating this monopoly of the Senate calendar.

Because the new plan has not speeded up the appropriations process, Congress probably will have to resort once more to its now familiar device of passing interim resolutions to keep federal agencies going until money is voted.

The practical difficulties encountered by the single package bill constitute a hard fact of life for those who saw in it a real chance to streamline budget-making.

ECONOMIES UNLIKELY

No easier to swallow is the conviction of experienced appropriations men that the omnibus bill's unwieldy character makes substantial economies no more likely than under the old system.

A simplified budget procedure looks no closer than in 1949. Possibly we must look for progress first at the real starting point—the framing of budget estimates by the various departments. Yet it's hard to imagine that their product will be any simpler until the agencies themselves are simpler in form and function. The dilemma of Congress over the budget would seem in the end to be another argument for putting into effect the 14 major plans for government reorganization proposed by the Hoover Commission but still on the shelf.

Reorganization is no guarantee of economy. But certainly confusion and haphazard growth in government are an effective barrier to saving.

Prices Depend On Supply, Too

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

MR. WILLIAM GREEN, who heads the powerful American Federation of Labor, recently outlined the federation's program for 1950. His labor groups will conduct an all-out drive to bring higher wages for the worker and reduced prices for consumer goods.

IF higher wages, by providing more buyers, did, as Mr. Green assumes, result in an all-over reduction in prices, it is doubtful whether many people could be dissuaded to oppose so happy a remedy for most ills. But one doesn't have to be endowed with extraordinary wisdom or economic astuteness to recognize that there is something lacking in this Utopian program.

When you increase wages you do give more people the margin of income that enables them to buy what they had not thought of buying before. But buying power is only a half solution. Housewives who, during the war, stood hopefully in queues to secure butter and eggs and salmon and many other commodities, were quick to discover that the more people in the queues the less their chance of success. The farmer who wanted farm equipment and the citizen waiting for a new car discovered that not only did the number of purchasers make their quest more difficult, but as well sent the prices soaring. That is what we know as the Law of Supply and Demand.

It is not, as many people believe, a law created by capitalists for their own benefit. It is a natural law, like night following day, and it applies equally against rich or poor.

That is what is wrong with Mr. Green's Utopian dream. More people with money, will, he believes, automatically bring lower prices. But demand is a factor in reducing prices only where it operates to produce more goods. Demand alone must have just the opposite effect. Mr. Green might well reflect on the operations of the chain stores. They have been rather successful in making profits for themselves, which is what Mr. Green proposes for his workers. They have succeeded in reducing prices to the consumer, which Mr. Green would also approve. But they have not made profits from retail establishments starved of goods.

AMPLE GOODS

Frustration dries up demand. They have succeeded by providing ample goods at reasonable prices. Let Mr. Green reflect on that item of "ample goods" for it is the nub of his problem. Let him convince his workers that the higher wages he promises can only benefit where they result in increased production so that the new demand may not fall on the same volume of commodities. Add that item to his program and Mr. Green may feel reasonably sure that he has the ticket to Utopia.

APPROVED

THE PARLIAMENT of Western Germany has under consideration an extraordinary measure which might well be considered by other countries.

That is a proposal, introduced by Chancellor Adenauer's Christian Democrat Party, to prohibit the manufacture or sale of warlike toys in Western Germany. It also asks that the Allied High Commission forbid the members of the occupation forces to give such toys to German children.

This odd measure obviously is inspired by the fact that warlike toys tend to create glorification of war in youthful minds. In that sense such playthings may be breeders of aggression which shows itself in later years.

Hitler—the last great exponent of Prussianism—recognized fully the advantage to be gained by beginning military training among the youth—both boys and girls.

In days not so long past Prussian militarism showed itself in many walks of life, even in peace time. We saw the little boys graduate from their war toys to student days at the great universities, where the necessary badge of valor was a scar across the face from dueling. Often youths deliberately disfigured themselves to get this distinction.

This Prussianism, largely responsible for both world wars, was strongly in evidence in the first global conflict.

Small wonder that the Allies swore to smash Prussianism as the mainspring of Germany's transgressions. They failed to succeed after the First World War, and they now are faced with the same problem again.

From here it looks as though the suggestion to abolish warlike toys in Germany is a good and hopeful sign, especially since it came from the Germans themselves.

ALL-DAY RADIO?

Ottawa Journal
Mr. A. D. Duntun, chairman of the CBC Radio of Governors, told the Commons radio committee that if the CBC did not get more revenues it might be compelled to cut, among other things, the quantity of programs.

Would that be disaster? Speaking for ourselves, we don't think it would be.

LEARNING FROM EXPERTS
Edmonton Journal
Defence Minister Claxton said, during a Commons debate on defence, that Canada is making use of the knowledge that the Eskimos and northern Indians have of the Arctic. That is certainly a sensible thing to do. A people like the Eskimos, who have survived the rigors of Arctic life for perhaps 2,000 years, must have accumulated much useful information—proven, moreover, by experience—on how to live, work and travel in that now vital defence region.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"YOU KNOW," said the Elevator Man, "I often think that if we all got together and canceled out a lot of our effort, most of our problems would be solved. Take transportation, for instance. Some people live in Oak Bay and work in Esquimalt. Others live in Esquimalt and work in Oak Bay. Every morning and evening there's a great rushing to and fro. Why don't they get together, swap jobs and homes, and save all that bother? But they don't seem to want to. People hate to give up their own ways and possessions. They even prefer their own annoyances to other people's. Going down!"

"It's a fact," said the Elevator Man, "human beings do spend a lot of time working in opposite directions. Some people try hard to find jobs, others try hard to avoid them. Some seek exercise, others do anything to escape it. Some work for free enterprise, some work to quench it. We're natural-born disagreeers, and it's probably a good thing. If we all wanted the same thing we might all want it at once, and crowd each other out. Lower main!"

"One of the things," said the Elevator Man, "most of us agree on is wanting to keep out of jail. But there are even exceptions to that. A California woman, a writer, forged some cheques so she could get arrested. She wanted to see what it was like in jail so she could write about it. Funny thing was, she had to try several times before she could attract any police attention. She should have offered to trade places with somebody already there. That would have got her quicker action. There's always somebody inside wanting out."

THE HOME GARDEN

Hoe More Important Than Garden Hose Now

By JACK G. BEASTALL

"Remember, through all your gardening career, that the hoe is of far greater importance than the hose!"

These are the words used by an old gardener to impress on the young apprentices that the water hose is not the saviour of a crop.

He went on to say that, except in the cases of extreme drought, there is always moisture in the lower levels of the soil. It rises to the surface by soaking through the adjacent soil particles in much the same way as water spreads over a blotter.

If the soil is loosened the movement of the moisture stops as it does when we tear the blotter and leave a small space between the pieces.

"DUST MULCH"

This is the reason we cultivate the surface soil and leave it in what is called a "dust mulch." The blotter action is broken and the rising moisture is prevented from reaching the surface and being lost by evaporation.

It is easy to see that we can control the height of the soil moisture by the depth to which we cultivate. For the home garden about two inches of dust is sufficient.

The average gardener puts too much stock in the waterhose. Folks from the prairies know full well that crops can be grown without watering. Those living on many parts of Vancouver Island know the same thing.

A great lesson may be learned by a visit to George Robinson & Sons' seed farm at Keating, located on a fairly high bench with no water available, cultivation is depended on to conserve the natural soil moisture.

Yet there is no more breath-taking sight than the acres of colored carpet, in all shades of the rainbow and then some, which greet the visitor after a sharp turn from the side road.

A good soaking, enough to go down at least six inches, followed by regular cultivation, does more for the crops than a surface sprinkling every other day.

Woman Recovering After Kidney Transplantation

Organ Of Dead Woman Saves Life Of Patient In First Operation Of Kind

CHICAGO (AP)—A kidney from a dead woman has been transplanted in another woman in an operation which doctors say is the first of its kind.

Dr. Richard M. Lawler said the surgery was performed Saturday in Little Company of Mary Hospital and that the patient was in "good condition" today. Her condition was normal and she had talked to her husband.

Dr. Lawler, a member of the hospital staff and senior attending surgeon at Cook County Hospital, directed the operation. It was begun 10 minutes after the death of the donor of the healthy kidney and required one and one-half hours.

Dr. Lawler removed the diseased kidney from Mrs. Ruth Tucker, 49, of Chicago.

The healthy kidney from the dead woman, in an adjoining operating room, was removed by Dr. James West, also a staff member.

Working simultaneously, one team of surgeons removed the diseased kidney from Mrs. Tucker while the other team removed a kidney from the dead woman.

Dr. West handed the healthy kidney through a door to Dr. Lawler and within 45 minutes the transplantation had been completed and blood was flowing through the kidney placed in Mrs. Tucker.

Mrs. Tucker suffered from polycystic kidney, a disease in which cysts in the kidney fill with urine which cannot be released. The disease usually is fatal.

Mrs. Tucker entered the hospital five weeks ago while doctors sought a suitable donor. The woman who consented to give her kidney after death also was 49 years old, of the same physical size and with the same blood type. She died from hemorrhage of the varicose veins of the esophagus and cirrhosis of the liver. Her name was not disclosed.

J. R. MacNicol, 19 Years' Member Of Commons, Dies

TORONTO (CP) — John M. MacNicol, one of the most colorful figures to enter the Canadian political scene in the last 20 years, died suddenly Sunday night.

The former Progressive Conservative member for Toronto-Davenport dropped dead at Malton Airport, where he is believed to have been waiting for a friend. An ardent booster of Canada's natural resources, Mr. MacNicol built up a reputation as one of the most widely-travelled members of Parliament during his 20 years in the Commons. First elected to Parliament in 1930, he was returned in the 1935, 1940 and 1945 general elections but was defeated in his bid for re-election last June.

The portly figure of the Toronto businessman was almost as well known in some sections of the Maritimes and western Canada as in his home constituency.

Accidental Deaths In East Total 23

Four Negroes Lose Lives As Boat Overturns In Lake Erie; One Saved

TORONTO (CP) — Four Negroes from Detroit—two men and two women—were drowned in Lake Erie, 25 miles southeast of Chatham, in the worst mishap of the week and in eastern Canada.

Make Gasoline From Coal At Plant In U.S.

LOUISIANA, Mo. (AP) — A new demonstration of making gasoline from coal has been started here by the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Each day about 100 tons of coal, ground nearly as fine as talcum powder, is converted into about 150 barrels of gasoline, plus 50 barrels of useful oils. This is done by adding hydrogen.

This demonstration aims to show that synthetic fuels made from coal can, when needed, supply the oil and gasoline necessary to the future economic welfare and military security of the United States.

The demonstration also is designed to show that these new fuels offer the coal mining industry an escape from diminishing returns and will insure the coal miners' steady work.

This gasoline can be made at the mines for year-round sale. The Bureau of Mines says this process should lower the costs of mining and transporting coal, which will be turned into oil and travel by pipeline instead of railway.

The plant here is an American version of the coal hydrogenation process long used in Europe, but shows how synthetic gasoline can be made more cheaply than abroad. First plant in the U.S., it covers several acres of ground, but is only demonstration size. A full-scale plant would produce 10,000 to 30,000 barrels a day.

The four were among 23 victims of accidental death. Altogether eight persons lost their lives by drowning throughout the east, and 11 died in traffic accidents. Two others were burned to death, one was a victim of illuminating gas poisoning and another victim was found dead near Smiths Falls under mysterious circumstances.

Five Detroit visitors, all negroes, were on a Lake Erie fishing trip late Saturday when their boat overturned. Drowned were Mrs. Leona Meredith, 33; Mrs. Dorothy Mulby, Levi Meredith, and Bernard Brown, 43. The bodies of Mrs. Meredith and Mrs. Mulby were recovered and dragged to shore.

The sole survivor, Clas B. Hicks, rescued after clinging to the overturned boat, told how his companions had slipped beneath the surface.

All members of the group were wearing life-jackets, said Hicks—but they had strapped them on their backs, instead of their chests. As a result their faces were forced under the water when they were thrown out of the boat. He himself clung to the boat five hours before he was rescued by a boat livyerman from nearby Shrewsbury.

"They just slipped away one by one," said Hicks, telling of their struggles to hang on to the boat. He said it capsized when one of the women leaned over the side to recover a tackle box dropped in the water.

LEGION W.A. OUSTS PLAN TO BAR MARRIED WOMEN WORKING

There should be no interference with married women working for the government or private firms at any time or under any circumstances, the provincial convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion at Trail decided.

Victoria delegates attending the convention were armed with a resolution opposing employment of married women.

They were swamped, chief opposition coming from Vancouver delegates.

"To deprive married women of the right of employment is a sin against democracy" was the argument of those opposing the Victoria resolution.

MAY FULFILL LEGEND

Reports Princess Margaret To Wed Duke Of Buccleugh

LONDON (Reuter) — A gossip columnist in the mass-circulation Sunday newspaper, News of the World, reported Sunday that some friends of 19-year-old Princess Margaret believe her engagement to "the scion of a Scottish ducal house" may be announced soon.

One of the vivacious young Princess's companions at the Royal Ascot race meeting last week was the 25-year-old Earl of Darnley, son of the eighth Duke of Buccleugh and nephew of the Duchess of Gloucester, Princess Margaret's aunt by marriage.

The tall, handsome earl, heir to 10 ancient Scottish and English titles, and to 500,000 acres in eight counties, has been one of the Princess's escorts at theatres and night clubs in London's West End.

Princess Margaret was born in Glamis Castle, Queen Elizabeth's Scottish ancestral home.

According to a legend which was widely publicized on the Princess's 19th birthday, which she celebrated at Balmoral Castle, the King's Scottish home, last Aug. 21, a girl born at Glamis will marry before she is 20.

Once Burned-Up Area Now Greenest Valley In B.C.

The once burned-up and barren area surrounding Trail is now one of the greenest sections of British Columbia, say Victoria delegates, back from the provincial convention of the Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary.

Where 23 years ago a blade of grass could not grow and gardens were virtually impossible because of smelter fumes, there are glorious flowers and wonderful vegetation.

Delegates were told the reason for the change is the smelter company decided to do something about removing the hand of agricultural death that marked operation of the plant.

The fumes no longer destroy all growth. They are trapped and broken down to useful products. Liquid air, oxygen, silver, gold, blamuth are obtained from them, besides chemical fertilizers which are responsible for the transformation.

Native Sons Capture Solarium Cup; Heaney's Meet Scots Here Saturday

Duncan Native Sons, getting stronger as the game progressed, Sunday won the Solarium Cup with a 5 to 3 overtime victory over Oak Bay before a good crowd at Heywood Avenue.

The game brought to a close the Victoria and District Soccer League cup competitions for this season, and except for Heaney's appearance in the Province cup series, closed out the soccer season locally.

Heaney's defeated Canadian Legion, 1 to 0, in the island final of the Province cup tie series at Macdonald Park, Saturday afternoon. The cartage men will meet St. Andrews here on Saturday, starting at 2:30.

Oak Bay took the lead in the see-saw Solarium Cup match when Arnold-Ferguson picked a hole in the Duncan defence at the six-minute mark to score easily. Duncan's Ralph Thorne tied the count at the 20-minute mark of the first half.

Twenty minutes into the second half Stan Wiseman scored for Oak Bay to give the Bays a 2 to 1 edge, but this effort was nullified minutes later when Wiseman put the ball in his net from a goalmouth scramble. Fred Johnnie scored for Duncan at the 33-minute mark to give the up-siders the lead for the first time. Then Herman Henry tipped the Oak Bay cause as he scored into his own goal to knot the count at 3 to 3, and force extra time.

Oak Bay tired noticeably in the extra 30-minute session, and Thorne and Charlie Williams scored for Duncan within 10 minutes.

Miss Betty Marr of the Solarium Junior League presented Herman Henry, captain of the Duncan team, with the Solarium Cup following the match.

Heaney's victory Saturday came on a penalty goal by Jack Robbins, given against Legion for hands. The vets strove vainly for the tying marker, but a strong Heaney's defence held off all bids.

Capitals Drop Doubleheader To Nanaimo Clippers

Victoria capitals dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the young Nanaimo Clippers in Lower Island Amateur Baseball League tilts at the up-island city Sunday.

For the Clippers, it was their first wins in the new league. They trounced the Caps, 10 to 2, in the afternoon encounter, and posted a convincing 5 to 1 decision over the Caps in the evening tilt.

Murray MacArthur opened on the hill for locals in the first game, but received shaky support from his mates. Tony Bishop took over in the eighth. Grant MacArthur was the victim of the Clippers in the second game. Bishop relieved him in the seventh and Art Green took over in the eighth.

First-sacker Verne Evans led Caps at the plate with four for six for the day.

FATHERS WIN

In the annual fathers vs. sons cricket match at Glenlyon School Saturday the fathers scored a 117 to 74 victory. Jimmy Audain led the fathers with 30 runs.

Champs Named In B.C.E. Net Tourney

Bill Dye and "Tommy" Elmsley are the men's and women's singles champions, respectively, of the B.C.E. Electric Tennis Club.

Dye won the men's singles crown Sunday with a 6-4, 6-3 victory over defending champion Viv Hicks, while Elmsley defeated Jean Baillie in the women's finals, 6-2, 6-2.

The men's title went to Frank Boughey and Ed Grunder with a 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Hicks and Jim Scott. V. Pearson and Maxine Ellis won the women's doubles crown, defeating Elmsley and Judy Peetz in the finals, 6-4, 6-4.

Elmsley and Dye captured the mixed doubles championship, taking a hard-fought three-set battle from Edna and Viv Hicks, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

MANGRUM-SNEAD FAVORITES

Former Strong Choice For P.G.A. Title After Round-Robin Triumph

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (UP)—Lloyd Mangrum, with the round robin title under his belt and $3,000 first prize money in his pocket, was fingered by his brother golfers today as "the guy to beat" in the P.G.A. tournament at Columbus, O., on Wednesday.

Mangrum got the nod principally on his triumphant performance over Wyckoff's rolling 6,599 layout during the past few days. He wound up the gruelling 90-hole test with a blistering 16 under-par 344 and comfortable plus 37 total. Lawson Little finished second with a plus 20.

Sammy Snead, who won last year's P.G.A. title at Richmond, Va., is among those who think Mangrum has an excellent chance to dethrone him.

"You have to go along with the guy who is on top," he declared, "and of the past three tournaments, I'll pick Mangrum even though he isn't at his best at match play."

Herman Barron, the White Plains, N.Y., ace who specializes in pulsating putts, also liked Mangrum in the P.G.A. "because he looks unbeatable at the moment."

Norman Von Nida, the "pint-sized Australian," clambered aboard the Mangrum bandwagon, too.

SNEAD DANGEROUS

"You can't help liking Mangrum," he explained. "He's an excellent competitor. But," he added significantly, "look out for Snead. There's nothing wrong with his playing either."

Snead, who, finished in a seventh-place tie with Jimmy Demaret in the $15,000 round robin, had considerable backing in his quest to retain the coveted P.G.A. title.

Claude Harmon of Mammoth, N.Y., and Paul Runyan of Pasadena, Calif., both picked the drawing West Virginian to repeat.

So did Fred Hass Jr. of New Orleans and Art Bell of San Francisco.

"I always ride with the defending champion," explained Bell, "but Mangrum could easily beat him."

The most solid vote for Snead came from Little. "Snead is as strong as a bull," Little said, "and he's in terrific shape now. The P.G.A. is a tough grind on a guy and Sam has the lasting power to see it through."

LYNN PATRICK ARRIVES BACK IN CITY TO STAY

Lynn Patrick, who resigned as coach of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League to take over the coaching job of the Victoria Cougars of the P.C.H.L., arrived in Victoria Sunday with his wife and family.

After winding up his affairs in New York, Patrick motored out to the coast.

"It's sure great to get away from that terrific heat," said Lynn today. He will remain here, getting settled, and be all ready to take charge of the Cougars when they open training for the 1950-51 campaign about the middle of September.

Brooklyn Sweeps Series With Cards

"If we could only beat Boston we might have a chance." This was manager Red Rolfe's stock answer to spring queries regarding Detroit's pennant chances for 1950. Rolfe's Tigers won only seven games from the Red Sox in 1949 while losing 15. They finished fourth, 10 games behind New York Yankees. That was the number they won from Boston in 1948 when they finished fifth.

The Tigers have met the Red Sox a dozen times thus far and have come off with nine victories. That is the chief reason why the Bengals are leading the rest of the American League by two full games today.

Detroit made it nine victories in the last 10 games Sunday by trouncing Boston 10 to 2. Art Houtteman allowed seven hits, but two of them were homers by Ted Williams and Vern Stephens to account for Boston's runs.

The Tigers' 12 hits included four-baggers by George Kell, Aaron Robinson and Howie Evers. Despite the victory, Detroit's first-place margin was shaved half a game by the New York Yankees who whipped the Browns 15 to 5 and 9 to 0 in St. Louis.

Cleveland's Indians blasted Philadelphia Athletics twice, 7 to 0 and 21 to 2. After Bobby Feller blanked the A's with two hits in the first game, the Indians scored a record 14 runs in the first inning of the nightcap.

Brooklyn's Dodgers climbed to within a half-game of the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals by whipping the Red Birds for the third straight time 9 to 0. Philadelphia's third-place Phillies moved to within 1½ games of the top, tripping Cincinnati Reds 4 to 3 and 4 to 2.

GIANTS WIN PAIR

The Giants trounced Chicago Cubs 6 to 0 and 10 to 5 to creep up to within a half-game of the fifth-place Braves. Boston's Braves won their sixth straight, defeating Pittsburgh 8 to 6 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second was called after nine innings on account of darkness with the score tied at 8 to 8. The game will be replayed tonight.

A scheduled doubleheader between Washington and the White Sox in Chicago was postponed by rain.

Cleveland's 14 runs was the most ever made in the first inning. The previous high was 13 made by the Braves in 1900 and the Giants in 1911. The A's held the American League mark of 12, set in 1937.

Three other clubs since 1900 tallied 14 runs in an inning. They were the Yankees in the fifth inning in 1920, the Cubs in the fourth in 1922 and the Red Sox in the seventh in 1948. The old Chicago Nations got 18 in the seventh inning of a game in 1883 for the all-time scoring record.

Redgrave Captures First Fish Derby

Lands 27-Lb. Spring To Head Big Entry At Arm

By ROY THORSEN

A 27-pound one-ounce spring salmon taken just before noon by Bob Redgrave Jr., 3349 Cook Street, captured the first prize refrigerator in Sunday's salmon derby in Saanich Inlet.

The opening competition for members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association showed that between 250 and 300 angler-laden boats participated.

Few big fish were taken. The catch of smaller salmon was fairly good, but there were a lot of skunks recorded among the hundreds of derbyists who combed the inlet depths for 30 hours.

Association trustee Harold Gent, 2819 Richmond Road, was presented with the handsome second prize portable radio by President A. C. Cruchley at the prize-giving at The Anchorage, Brentwood, to close the day. Gent won with a 24-pound, one-ounce catch.

The third prize picnic kit went to George W. Piercy, 2341 Beach Drive, for his 20-pound, four-ounce silver John Hampton, 1065 San Marino Crescent, took fourth prize for winning a tussle with a salmon going 20 pounds, two ounces.

OTHER WINNERS

Other prize winners, their fish weights and prizes, were: fifth, George Bryant, 3097 Balfour Street, 18 pounds, 10 ounces, combination toaster and waffle iron; sixth, Arthur Cooper, 1540 Hillside Avenue, 18 pounds, 10 ounces, pressure cooker (Bryant won the toss on this tie); seventh, Bert Redgrave, father of Bob, 18½ pounds, electric kettle; eighth, Scotty McKenzie, 1508 Myrtle Street, 17 pounds, two ounces, thermos; ninth, Ove Pedersen, 1065 Beverley Place, 17 pounds, nine ounces, tackle box; 10th, Alfred Anderson, 1749 Santa Maria Avenue, 16 pounds, eight ounces, wire line.

Owing to all the tickets not being collected the winner of the television set consolation prize could not be decided. Stan Ball, Chinook Club president and derby committee chairman, told the crowd the winner will be decided tonight.

An interesting feature of the derby was that Victoria-made plugs caught two of the heaviest salmon weighed in. Bob Redgrave and Piercy caught their prize-winners on Tillicum plugs. Hampton caught his on a plug named after the inventor, Rex Field, Courtenay.

The heavy concentration of boats at the Goldstream end resulted in a mess of tangled wire lines, but the biggest percentage of the prize-winning fish were taken in waters midway between Goldstream and Brentwood, such as in the Deep Hole, McKenzie Bay, off the Stone House.

D. D. Thorburn, Canadian Scottish Regt., was second with 32-37-69.

Vinnie Baines Captures Graphic Arts Golf Play

Firing a 99, just 29 over par, but "being the holder of a 36 handicap, Vinnie Baines of the Daily Times composing room staff Sunday won the Norman F. Hall Trophy and the 14th annual Graphic Arts golf championship at the Colwood club.

Other prize-winners included low net first nine, B. Turner; second low net, J. Bacon and S. Silverster; low net second nine, O. Corbett; second low net, H. Young; high score first nine, A. Elliott; high score second nine, F. N. Lea; low gross visitors, C. Campbell; second low gross visitors, J. Duddy; low net visitors, E. Teal; second low net visitors, A. Boyd.

WASHINGTON HUSKIES IN SWEEP

Coast Crews Win All Three Races In Rowing Classic

MARIETTA, O. (AP)—The ancient "Poughkeepsie Regatta" was shifted to Marietta Saturday for the first time and the course was cut to two miles because of bad weather, but the same magnificent Washington crews dominated the races.

The Huskies swept the river for the fourth time.

Stanford started off in the varsity race with a spurt and led at the half-mile, followed closely by Washington with Wisconsin surged in front and Wisconsin came up to make an astounding threat.

Then Washington poured on its power, and won by two lengths over California.

In the freshman race, Navy had the honor of coming in second. But in the junior varsity it was California second, just as it was in the big varsity race.

FINGERPRINTS DON'T LIE

THE STORY: Private detective Martin Queripel is trying to clear Paul Moody, a young sculptor, of a murder charge in the slaying of Wendell Palmer, father of Moody's fiancée, Analea Palmer. Police detectives found fingerprints on the base of a telephone used to bludgeon Palmer to death and claim these are Moody's. Queripel examined these and had duplicate prints of his own fingers taken from another telephone, apparently working on a theory that might solve Moody. Returning to his office, Timothy O'Hea, his assistant, tells him of an interview with an unscrupulous woman, Nelda Croft, who reveals she had attempted to blackmail Palmer and that her accomplice was police detective Pete Kelso, who had assisted in building up the case against Moody. Recently Nelda and Kelso had had a falling out, and when she accused him of killing Palmer, Kelso denied it, saying Palmer had been killed by someone else.

INSTALLMENT 25

When Timothy O'Hea finished his story about his interview with Nelda Croft, he leaned back and looked at his boss, Martin Queripel.

"And now what do you think of that for an afternoon's work? If you put two and two together, what you got?"

"Forty!" said Queripel. "It was a noble afternoon's work. And it would be wonderful if it were legal evidence. But the courts don't admit hearsay. And all we have is your hearsay of her hearsay of what Pete Kelso told Nelda and what she guessed. But you write down what you told me while it's fresh in your mind. Go to it!"

When O'Hea was gone, Queripel's mind was an even more turbulent maelstrom than before.

That night after he had gone to bed, he could not sleep.

His mind reconstructed certain events that had taken place in Paul Moody's studio when Detective James Stivers and Pete Kelso had gone there to collect fingerprints after Wendell Palmer's murder.

ALONE FOR MINUTES

Queripel could see Kelso now, left alone for a few minutes, perhaps while Stivers went upstairs to get prints from Moody's personal belongings. Kelso might have been in Stivers' fingerprint kit, taking the envelopes of fingerprints and negatives from their proper places.

In his mind's eye, Queripel saw Kelso as he found the batch marked "telephone base" on which was written the address of the Palmer home. Kelso would study with panting greed the two tapes which Stivers had lifted from the base of the telephone—those two groups of four fingers each.

Kelso would go to the stairway, look and listen, then tiptoe back, certain that Stivers was busy upstairs.

With a pen-knife, perhaps, Kelso would pry off the labels in Stivers' handwriting and drop the prints into his own pocket.

Carefully, next he would select two of the prints of Paul Moody's four fingers which Stivers had taken from the surface of one of the bronze statues a few minutes before.

On these Kelso might try to fasten the labels he had taken off the telephone base, which he could easily have picked up—perhaps when Stivers wrote them out at the Palmer home. The labels would fit perfectly and they would carry Stivers' own handwriting.

After that Kelso would put a rubber band around the prints and stuff them back into the pocket of the kit where he had found them. After such a job, Kelso would be a different man—he would love the world. He would love life and count on a lot of it from now on.

Queripel went over and over his reconstruction of the crime. So far it was only theory. He would have to prove his theory. Daybreak found his haggard and fagged.

The morning papers gave Martin Queripel no comfort in the bad news from abroad and at home, or the bad press Paul Moody was getting.

When the detective reached his office, Harley Kenyon was waiting for him with an eager question.

"Did you see the advertisement in both the morning papers?" Queripel shook his head. Kenyon handed him a clipping that read:

WILL the lady who saw Wendell Palmer standing at the door of his house and who waved to him and called to him shortly before he was murdered, kindly communicate with Harley Kenyon? And will her chauffeur get in touch with me? Confidentiality requested and rewarded. Kenyon's telephone and office address were given, of course.

EXPECTS SILENCE

Queripel read it and was forced to quench Kenyon's hopeful smile.

"I didn't see it. And she probably never will. Even if she does, being a lady with a limousine, she will prefer to remain in seclusion. And she will see that her chauffeur does the same."

"Furthermore, if the reporters notice this and she never replies, her silence and her chauffeur's will make a bad impression. When you go fishing, it looks bad to come back with an empty hook."

Kenyon's jaw dropped with disappointment and hurt pride, so Queripel sought to console him.

"Of course, if I'm wrong, and she should turn up and remember Paul Moody picking up the hat the old man hurried at him, that would be golden evidence. Everything's worth the try. And I may be fishing with poorer bait myself. But to give you a bit of cheer read O'Hea's document."

They spent hours going over various plans and stratagems, but Queripel dared not even mention what was bedeviling his mind and driving him frantic between black despondency and blinding flashes of hope.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Movie Moppets Keep Mom Busy Eddie Bracken Strong On TV

By GLORIA YARBROUGH (For Bob Thomas, reviewing)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rearing three children is trouble enough but Mrs. Eleanor Perreau has double trouble—her's are movie moppets.

"I don't know what I'd do if I had any more," she sighed on the set of "M" where seven-year-old Janine is acting in her fifth picture.

Mrs. Perreau, a comely blonde, is also the mother of the nine-year-old acting veteran, Gigi Perreau, and Peter Miles, 12.

"My husband is in Rome right now with Jerry (Peter's real name)," she said. "Gigi will start another picture in two weeks and Janine will still be working on this one."

Movie comedian Eddie Bracken has packed his joke books with moth balls and says he wants to become a "Louis B. Mayer of television."

"Gosh this is interesting," beamed the new producer from behind the scenes of his first movie for Videa.

As for his screen career, he said: "I just turned down a contract offer for the 11th time. It would have meant no television."

Eddie's television plans include a 13-week schedule for 26 films. "We plan everything out in advance," he said. "Everything is put down on paper. That way, all you can lose is ink."

Five Of Seven Arab States United In Defence Accord

ALEXANDRIA (AP)—In the face of a boycott by Jordan's King Abdullah, five of the seven Arab League countries united themselves Saturday in a defence pact for the Middle East.

The agreement may be tied to a decision of the western powers to arm the strategic crossroads countries against any Soviet aggression.

Iraq, the other league country, held off from the collective security scheme because of its Hashemite family and other ties with Jordan.

Iraq hopes Jordan will join at the next league council session in October.

(Jordan was the only league member that scored a major victory in the Arab war with the Israelis for Palestine.)

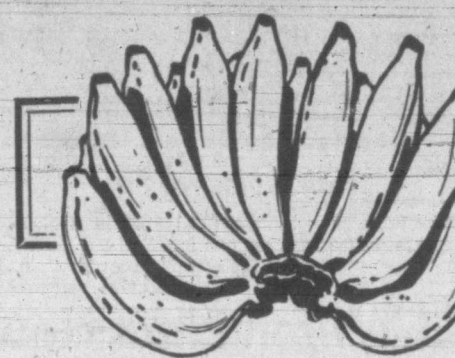

The pact signers are Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Lebanon and Yemen.

Ontario's registered buses carried approximately 200,000,000 passengers in 1948.

'Just Like Movie,' Says Girl Of Plane Crash In Jungle

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Three-year-old Pamela Gafford from Texas, who survived a plane crash and four days in a lion-infested African jungle, says the whole thing was "just like a movie."

She arrived here at the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gafford of Tulsa, Okla., and three other persons rescued from the wild-game country along the Ethiopian-Somali border where their plane crashed June 11. Pamela still lugged her doll.

The survivors, all unhurt, include the pilot, Kenneth Horton, of Tulsa. He is reported to be formerly of Brookville, Ont. Pamela said she was never afraid during the four days they awaited rescue by Italian army tanks.

Hyenas and jackals made inquisitive nocturnal visits to the wrecked plane, but no big wild animals threatened them. If they had, Pamela said with childish bravado: "I would have tapped them on the nose with my doll and told them to run along and mind their own business."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

One of the most unusual bridge events of the year is the annual Intercollegiate Tournament. This year 151 colleges in 42 states competed in the early rounds of this tournament. Students from 16 colleges won their way to the Chicago finals, held in April.

More than 1,200 college students had a chance in the early rounds to show their skill with this hand. A very large number bid and played it correctly.

At most tables, the opening lead was the queen of diamonds. If South took this first trick he received a nice round zero.

The correct play is to allow West to hold the first trick with the queen of diamonds. South wins the diamond continuation (no shift would do any good) and enters dummy with a club to take the trump finesse. West takes his king of spades and gets out safely by returning a spade or club.

Having lost a diamond and a spade, South must make sure to lose only one heart trick. After drawing three rounds of trumps, declarer runs all of the clubs, ending in dummy. He then leads the jack of hearts and lets it ride for a finesse.

♠ Q884 10 ♥ J102 ♦ 84 ♣ AK93		♠ 72 ♥ 3754 ♦ K765 ♣ 1064
♠ K53 ♥ KQ3 ♦ QJ103 ♣ 2	♠ N ♥ W ♦ E ♣ S	♠ AJ106 ♥ A96 ♦ A9 ♣ Q872

Pass	2♣	Pass	4♣

West can win with the queen of hearts, but is then helpless. If he returns a heart, dummy will win a trick with the ten. If West returns his only remaining suit (diamonds), dummy can ruff while South discards his remaining low hearts.

The reason South gets a zero for winning the first trick is that this allows the opponents to upset the declarer. For example, suppose South wins the ace of diamonds at the first trick and goes to dummy with a club to take the trump finesse. West wins with the king of spades and puts his partner in with a diamond. East is then able to lead a heart. This cooks declarer's goose.

If South takes his ace of hearts, he must eventually give up two tricks in that suit. If he plays low, West wins with the queen of hearts and returns a spade or a club. Thereafter West waits patiently to take the setting trick with his king of hearts.

Credits Labor For Britain's Progress

ROTHERHAM, Yorks, Eng. (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps gave the Labor government credit for Britain's economic progress, but warned that "we still have a long way to go and a hard job to do."

The Chancellor of the Exchequer stressed the need for building up substantial reserves to lessen repercussions of a possible depression in other parts of the world.

He spoke at the Yorkshire miners' annual procession after leading 20,000 miners in a procession through this Yorkshire town.

The speech made constant reference to the politically powerful labor pledge that full employment must be maintained.

New A-Director

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Philip B. Moon, 43, one of Britain's leading atomic scientists, has been appointed director of the physics department of Birmingham University, it was announced.

'But, Your Honor, I Don't Really Beg'

Who could doubt Henri the French poodle when he gives that kind of a look. The unclipped pup's picture is another in Robert A. Hanks' series of dog portraits.

UNCLE RAY

We know that male and female birds usually have different colorings, but it may hardly come to mind that the same thing is true of butterflies.

Male and female butterflies do differ, and there is a great difference in some butterfly groups. In one group the male has a large orange spot on each front wing. The female is without this bright decoration.

In another group of butterflies, the males have wings which are mostly white on the upper sides. The females are almost entirely black, or blackish, on the upper surfaces of the wings.

Other kinds of butterflies differ only a little in coloring. The male may have a few more red or yellow markings than the female.

In the southeastern part of Asia and in the East Indies, there are large butterflies known as "bird-winged swallowtails." Some of them have a wingspread of eight inches. The largest ones are females, but the males have prettier coloring, with patches of blue, green and gold which glisten in the sunshine.

There are swallowtails in North America, but they are smaller than those of the Orient. The largest North American swallowtail has a wingspread of from five to six inches. They are known as "giant swallowtails."

Smaller than the giant swallowtails, but of large size, are the tiger swallowtails. As we might expect from their name, tiger swallowtails have stripes on their wings. The stripes are black and run across a yellow background. These butterflies also have pretty markings of blue and red near the edges of the second pair of wings.

Tiger swallowtails are found in most parts of the United States. The females are larger than the males, sometimes having a wingspread of four inches or a bit more. In southern states, many of the females have a deep brown, almost black, coloring in places where other swallowtails have yellow.

Butterflies have the most beautiful coloring in the insect world, with the possible exception of a few kinds of moths.

On the basis of births, it is estimated enrollment in Canada's elementary and secondary schools will reach 3,100,000 by 1960; immigration and trends may boost this figure another 1,000,000.

By ART STOTT

NOT ENOUGH people are paying attention to the philosophy of old shoes. It's taken for granted, never given a thought. Old shoes are just something you slip on when you get home from the office. They're part of the comfort of home, unpretentious, not very respectable, but almost human in the kindness with which they receive your feet.

Some day a more enlightened generation will go into the question of old shoes scientifically. It's going to make surveys and analyses. When it does, the world will be amazed at the vital role for peace that can be played by the worn footwear. The surveys will show, among other things, that half the troubles on this globe are caused by people with hurt feet. Remove the cause of those hurts and you will be that much closer to what the educationist sometimes calls the "well adjusted personality" in other words, the guy with happy feet.

OLD SHOES are old friends. They've adapted themselves to the little idiosyncrasies of their owner's feet. They make allowances for the toe that's twisted a little out of shape. They bear softly on the joint where irritation can cause a corn. They're sympathetic to the prominent heel bones that rub against the stiff backing of a new pair. They are to your feet what a wife can be to a happily married man — understanding and reassuring.

That's the physical background of the old shoe philosophy. Any one who appreciates it — consciously, that is — is on the way to solving some of the riddles of human behavior. Minds have something in common with feet. They have to have a measure of comfort. They can't wear old shoe ideas continually, but they need some release from the friction and pressures of the new conceptions they're forced into day by day.

KEEP PUSHING minds into the confining molds of somebody else's fresh brain waves without allowing them the comfort of stretching their toes in the mental old shoes they've been wearing, and you produce intellectual bunions. You get a man who's as unhappy and as irritable as one with new shoes that don't quite fit. Ideas have to be broken in gradually, too.

You notice the reaction on people who are growing older, though that aging process isn't always a matter of years. If they're in the carpet slipper stage, it isn't too easy to sell them on the idea of new shoes. If you try to force them, they get resentful. You may buy them new shoes, but getting the oldsters to wear them is another matter.

THEY SAY THAT reminiscence is a sign of age. Probably it is. You have to have age before you can reminisce. A person can't recall something he hasn't lived long enough to hold in retrospect. Mostly, though, memories are old shoes. People advanced in years just put them on for the comfort and friendliness they give. It even becomes a bit of a ritual to some of them. They dress up, put on their best bib and tucker and their new shoes, so they can go to some gathering where they can join friends in an orgy of putting on the old shoes of recollection.

The old shoes aren't always comfortable. If they've been neglected too long, if they haven't been treated with respect, the in-soles curl up and harden. They have to be worked in again. It's something the same with ideas. Minds that have ignored them, have put them on the shelf without packing and without some care, don't slip back into them so painlessly, don't find the same ease they knew when the ideas were in regular use.

ON THE OTHER HAND, you can wear your old shoes too long. You can reach the point where the nails start sticking up through the heels, when the soles grow so thin that walking over pebbles hurts your feet. They don't give you any protection. Same thing with ideas. They sometimes get old and shabby, wear thin, develop cracks, won't stand up when the going's rough.

Maybe the primitives had something when they went barefoot. They were exposed to sharp thorns and pointed stones, but they didn't develop corns from toe caps that were too tight. They knew neither the comforts nor discomforts of shoes, and nature adapted their feet to their needs. The 24-hour-a-day job of staying alive left them without much time to develop abstract ideas, either. They probably didn't even need psychiatrists or chiropodists.

Still, they probably missed more than they gained. They never knew the relief or pleasure of slipping into the pair of old shoes, or old ideas, that can give so much comfort to the modern man or woman.

Premier Signs For New B.C. Homes

Three B.C. Municipalities Seeking Agreement For Housing Projects

Three B.C. municipalities have requested housing projects under the Dominion-Provincial cost-sharing scheme arranged at the last session of the provincial Legislature, it was disclosed today.

They are North Vancouver, Surrey and Vancouver City.

Premier Byron Johnson said planning in each case is proceeding rapidly and it is hoped construction can be started "at an early date."

Disclosure of the planned projects was made when the Premier signed the first agreement between the federal and provincial governments under the joint housing scheme.

With officials of the Dominion-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation on hand, Mr. Johnson signed for the province a blanket agreement enabling the two senior governments to make preliminary expenditures for designing and engineering in connection with any property project.

When the details of a project finally are agreed to by each level of government, specific agreements then will be entered into by the federal, provincial and municipal governments, relative to the project.

Under the plan the two senior governments bear the total capital cost of all projects, including the cost of the land except where it is necessary to extend municipal services to connect with the project area.

In this latter case, cost of these extensions are a municipal responsibility.

Indians Don Regalia For Ceremonial Visit

Ceremonials from the almost-forgotten past marked the visit of 14 elderly Songhees Indians to the Legislative Buildings Sunday afternoon when, by special arrangement, the little group, garbed in the picturesque regalia of ancient times, was admitted to the "Big House" to inspect a reproduction of a painting of the great King Frezzy, a mighty chief of a century ago.

Perhaps the most interesting ceremonial, and certainly a rare one in these modern times, was when Jimmy Fraser, the grandson of the native potentate, took his name, "Frezzy" was a name bestowed on the chief by the whites, as being easier of pronunciation than his Songhees name, Cheachlach. This name was added to that of Jimmy Fraser, who henceforth will be Jimmy Cheachlach. Four old people who remember the manner of the "name-changing" ceremonial, officiated.

Once Jimmy was given permission to adopt the title of his ancestor, he was at liberty to sing his grandfather's special song, and to wear his headdress.

The group of 14, of which eight are relatives of the man whose name was changed, gathered at the statue of Queen Victoria, in front of the Legislative

Likewise the senior governments assume all the losses or gains of a project unless the municipality specifically requests a sub-economic rental scheme, in which case the municipality must contribute to an annual rent reduction fund.

In addition to the three municipalities which have requested housing projects under the scheme, there are four others expected to make application soon.

On the North Vancouver move, the municipality has requested that wartime houses be moved and converted as they become vacant over the next five years to give 260 housing units.

Surrey has made application for construction of upward of 100 new houses for sale, to be located in various parts of the municipality. Approximate cost is placed at $700,000.

Forgery Draws Six-Month Term

For forging another man's name to a contract to secure a U-drive car, Charles Gibson, no fixed address, in city police court today was sentenced to six months in Oakalla at hard labor.

He pleaded guilty to forging the name of "G. Udall" on the contract to secure a car from Ferri-day's U-Drive Co. Gibson also is awaiting sentence on a charge of stealing Gerald Udall's driver's license. He was found guilty on the latter charge.

Buildings, and paid their respects to the memory of the "Great White Mother" who ruled over them when they were young. They were then permitted to enter the buildings to carry out the balance of their ceremonial.

"King Frezzy" to give him his white-man's name, was a powerful figure in the Songhees tribe when the first whites came to build Fort Victoria, and Indian tradition says that he carried Chief Factor James Douglas from his boat over marshy ground to start his work of exploring the country. Frezzy, in conjunction with Chief Tzouhalem of the Cowichans, led the attack on Fort Victoria in 1844. He later became the firm friend of the white men.

Mayhew Sure Royal Roads Housing Good

Belief that when all work is completed on the federal housing project for married naval personnel at Royal Roads it will provide good housing, a pleasant layout and satisfactory appearance was expressed by Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew in a letter received by M. Frank Hunter, city clerk today.

The letter was a reply to a City Council protest on the architecture of the houses, on the grounds they were apparently designed with no thought to the surrounding country.

First protest was raised by Ald. Harold M. Diggon, who termed the houses "architectural monstrosities."

"You can be assured that the architects and landscape architect are well aware of the natural beauty of this area," Mr. Mayhew said.

OF SAME OPINION

Along similar lines was a letter from Defence Minister Brooke Claxton to General George R. Pearkes, M.P. for Nanaimo, which the latter forwarded to the city.

Landscape would be done on a moderate scale, Mr. Claxton wrote and added that when the project was completed it would compare favorably with any privately owned properties in the vicinity.

The adverse comment which you have made is the first of its kind received by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Mr. Mayhew wrote the city.

He said the houses, which are included in the 1949 program for 4,000 across the country were reviewed with architects of the three armed services.

"It was agreed by all that these houses were completely appropriate, both in exterior design and plan, to meet the requirements of the services and within the limitation of funds being made available for the married quarters program," Mr. Mayhew wrote.

New Rubber Shower Curtains
Easy To Keep Clean, Durable

By PENNY SAVER

Singing in the bathtub... and who wouldn't with all the resonance in a room like that you can sound like a Lily Pons or an Ezio Pinza in two easy gurgles. Then again, it might be the new rubber shower curtain that's got you singing from a low A to Q above high C or something or other. About 96 inches wide and seven feet long, the new type of curtains are made of rubber and cotton flock. (If anybody asks me what cotton flock is, I'm a dead duck.)

The material is heavy and somewhat fleecy in appearance, soft and easy to manage. Because of the weight of the rubber material the curtain hangs in rich deep folds and, of course, is waterproof. From $9.50 up I saw curtains in shades of blue and cream background adds featuring large individual floral patterns, pale peach with subdued tones of grey, brown and white bubbles floating about, and pale green.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix: In a marriage where both the husband and the wife are not intensely in love, which should have the greater love in order that the marriage should be a success?

OFFICE FORCE

Answer: Of course, the ideal marriage is one in which both the man and the woman are deeply in love with each other. Perhaps it seldom happens that a married couple love equally. The French have a proverb for this which says that in marriage one loves and the other permits himself or herself to be loved.

Some contend that in such a case the man should love more because all the circumstances of his life, his ambitions, his career his absorption in other interests tend to draw him away from his wife and make sentiment a secondary consideration.

But I think that the wife should love more, because love means more to a woman than it ever does to a man, and it is more important to her to be wrapped up in her affection for her husband than it is for him to be deeply enamoured of her.

Football Star Claims Bernice Levis Bride In Rites Of Scottish Interest

Creating interest across the sea, and in local sports and nursing circles was the early evening wedding Saturday in St. Aidan's Church.

Principals were Bernice Amelia Levis, graduate of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, class of January, 1949, and William Andrew Mitchell McAllister, son of Police Judge and Mrs. John McAllister, Dunoon, Scotland. Since his arrival in British Columbia in 1948, Mr. McAllister has been well-known in football circles and is at present goal-keeper of Victoria United football team.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Levis, William Head, selected lustrous white satin for her full-length gown flaring into a graceful train. Tulle misted finger-length from her Mary Stewart headress adorned with orange blossoms. The groom's gift of pearls was her only ornament. She carried a Colonial of pink roses, white carnations and sweet peas.

Blush pink satin created on lines similar to her sister's wedding gown was worn by Miss Eileen Levis, honor maid. She carried pink carnations and sweet peas in a Colonial arrangement.

Tiny flower maids, Maxine Levis, niece of the bride, and Barbara Brown, were frocked alike in green and orchid organza.

Jan Adams was best man for his cousin and co-members of Victoria football team, Dennis McGee and John McMillan, ushered.

Guests were received in Terry's Rose Room, where the newlyweds cut a three-tier cake. Frank Jennings gave the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. McAllister, who will live at 255 Government Street, are on a honeymoon cruise on the West Coast of the island.

The bride traveled in a navy blue wool gabardine suit, white and navy accessories and pink roses in corsage.

Mauve, Yellow Gowns Foil For Bride In Delicate Lace

Perfect blendings of mauve and buttercup yellow in costumes worn by bridal attendants created a lovely foil for the fragile white lace over-satin gown donned by Pearl Wilma Schattenkerk for her vow exchange, with Gordon Lorne Ritchie, Saturday at 8.

Rev. G. R. Easter officiated at rites in First Baptist Church for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schattenkerk, 1314 Hillside Avenue, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ritchie, 346 Arnold Avenue.

Orange blossoms held a fingertip veil enriched with lace, misting the bridal gown, with Peter Pan collar, slim bodice and lily point sleeves. Pearl earrings, and groom's gift, a gold watch, were her only ornaments, and the bride carried an arm bouquet of red roses and swansonia.

Misses Lorna Ritchie, sister of the groom, and Joan Veitch, wore similar gowns of yellow embossed organza, with matching poke bonnets. They carried mauve stocks and yellow carnations.

Maid of honor, Roberta Schattenkerk, sister of the bride, wore an identical gown in mauve, and carried yellow carnations, marguerites and mauve stocks, with similar flowers trimming her bonnet.

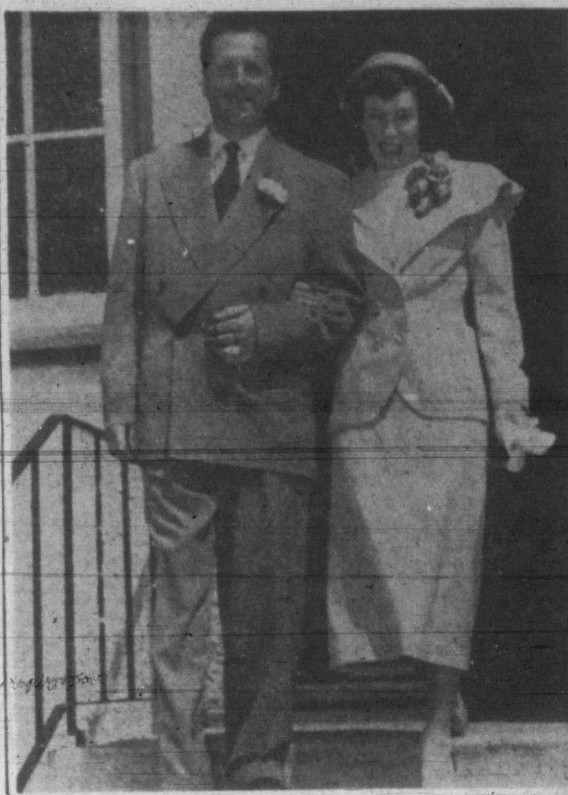

Brother of the groom, Bob Ritchie, was best man.

Lorne Ritchie, uncle of the groom, with Orval Schattenkerk, bride's brother, ushered. Another uncle, Douglas Ritchie, sang "Because."

Windermere Hotel was setting for a reception where George Windjack gave the toast to his niece. A three-tier cake was cut by the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie left for Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, and on return will live at 1112 Fairfield Road.

The bride traveled in a two-piece pale green knitted suit, grey flannel topcoat, and white and brown accessories. Her corsage bouquet was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsman leave St. Matthias' Church following their Saturday afternoon marriage.

'Bud' Kinsman And Bride En Route To Niagara Falls

Of wide interest in this city was the attractive ceremony Saturday at 2:45 when Miss Freda Mary, daughter of Major T. R. Wheadon, Prospect Lake, and the late Mrs. Wheadon, and Kenneth H. "Bud" Kinsman, press photographer, Daily Colonist were married.

Mr. Kinsman is the son of Mrs. J. E. Kinsman, 1959 Brighton Avenue and the late Mr. Kinsman.

The newlyweds are en route to Niagara Falls on honeymoon and will motor back to Victoria through United States.

St. Matthias Church was the setting for the nuptials read by Rev. K. L. Sandercock.

In attendance as honor maid, Miss Viola Wain, wore turquoise satin, with matching mitts, and flowered coronet to harmonize with her bouquet of Tailsman roses and stocks. First Picture Of Rare 'Notornis'

First ever seen and photographed is chick of "notornis," New Zealand's wingless bird, discovered breeding on misty lake in highlands of that country. Note large digits and spur.

Victoria Receives Photos Of N.Z.'s 'Extinct' Bird

Unique pictures of notornis, the "extinct" bird rediscovered after half a century in New Zealand, have been received by Walter Bondesen, 1122 Meares Street, from Mr. Combes, a New Zealand member of parliament.

Mr. Bondesen, a staff member of the Department of Public Works, met Mr. Combes when the New Zealand M.P. visited Victoria last year, and the Victorian's interest in the rare bird resulted in Mr. Combes sending the pictures as a gift.

The sender is a friend of Dr. G. B. Orbell, who discovered a colony of the birds on the shore of a sub-alpine lake in a wild uninhabited country. The birds are flightless and their discovery has created wide interest throughout the world.

The birds were found in an area known by the Maoris as Hohaka Takahia. The area is known for its heavy rains. Since the discovery of the birds in 1948, several expeditions have been made to the area to study them.

Church, Reds In Bitter Struggle To Influence Youth Of Italy

By ADRIENNE FARRELL
VATICAN CITY (Reuter) — Roman Catholics and Communists in Italy are locked in a bitter struggle to influence the country's children.

It started two years ago when the Communists formed a rival organization to the Catholic boy scouts, known as the "Italian Pioneer Association."

Its organizers claimed this association to be a democratic group educating children to "oppose exploitation, injustice and the war and to cultivate love for the workers, for the mother country, for social justice and for peace."

OATHS, HATRED

But the Roman Catholic bishops of northern Italy and Catholic youth leaders have denounced it as a movement designed to corrupt Italian children and teach them blasphemy, swearing and hatred of God and religion.

These accusations have aroused a polemic in Italy over the education of children which has filled the columns of both Catholic and Communist papers for the last month.

The Catholic outcry was touched off by the bishops of Emilia, the prominently Red area of northern Italy.

In a signed declaration, they accused the Communists of attempting to "corrupt children by uprooting from their minds all faith in God, leading them to despise Christianity, and above all cultivating in them, even though in veiled form, the fatal instincts of sensuality."

The Catholic newspaper Quotidiano said that in some areas, children between seven

Air Defences To Be Tested

VANCOUVER (BUP) — U.S. and Canadian aircraft will battle over British Columbia this week in a defence manoeuvre called "Operation Whiplash."

Over-all command of the operation will be under the United States Continental Air Command. Vampire jet interceptors of 442 City of Vancouver Squadron will carry out radar plotting marking approach of the bombers and fly mock interceptions.

United States air force bombers, fighters and radar defence units will also participate in the exercise.

and 14 who wanted to join the "Pioneers" were made to undergo a swearing examination, in which a five-minute string of oaths was considered an adequate accomplishment for membership.

Erardo Cardinal Schuster, Archbishop of Milan, accused the Communist-sponsored Union of Italian Women of aiding the work of corruption and threatened to excommunicate parents who entrusted them with their children.

The Union of Italian Women immediately filed an action for libel.

The Catholic hold on education in Italy is strong. Many of the schools are run by nuns or priests. Catholic youth organizations such as the Catholic Boy Scouts number as many as 45,000 members.

ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER

Freak Stories Keep Reporter Bewildered

By BOB HUTCHISON

Never say this is the biggest in the world, or you'll never find one as good as this. Take my word for it, you will. I know. I've learned my lesson.

A month ago the Daily Times ran a picture of a tulip with three blooms on one stem. According to the paper it was rare and almost unique. That was according to the paper. I know better. I wrote about it. All week people phoned up about their four, five and six-bloom tulips. One man went as far as to bring one in.

THEN THERE WERE MORE

Just last week I wrote a story about a Boer War veteran who had kept a box of chocolates he had been issued by Queen Victoria back in 1900. Here was something that was bound to be unique. Fifty years and he still had the chocolates.

During the next few days people phoned up to tell me about a lady out on Burnside Road who had kept the same kind of box. She, too, had the chocolates. Then to add insult to injury, G. W. Ball, 533, Rithet Street, came into the office with not one but two boxes of the Queen Victoria chocolates. See what I mean.

If I didn't know better I'd say this was the only town in the world with three boxes.

JUST A STARTER

Today T. R. Kelly, Graham Street, was in with a strawberry five inches in circumference. I was asked to arrange for a picture of it. I'm sitting here now waiting for a fellow to come in with a strawberry 10 inches in circumference.

If a three-headed man walks into the office tomorrow morning, I won't even look up. Take a picture and run a story and there'd be five and six-headed men bothering you all week. I know. I've learned my lesson.

B.C. Baptists To Meet In City For Convention

The 53rd annual convention of the Baptist Churches of B.C. will be held here Tuesday to Friday at the First Baptist Church, 1600 Quadra Street.

Over 100 delegates from all parts of the province have registered. The convention opens at 9 Tuesday morning.

Principal speakers will be Rt. Hon. and Mrs. Ernest Brown of London, England. Mr. Brown, an outstanding Baptist lay preacher in Britain, was a Liberal member of the House of Commons in England for 75 years and held several key government positions.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers include: Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Wolverson, Canadian Baptist missionaries on furlough from India; Miss Alberta Patton of India, and Dr. W. C.

Runaway Car Smashes Into House

A run-away car owned by R. B. Simm, 1540 Elford Street, rolled about 200 feet down Elford Street Saturday night and crashed into the corner of the home of Marian S. and Charles E. Rivers, 1434 Begbie Street.

Police said about $100 damage was done to the car and damage done to the house. Officers said the car went over the curb on boulevard, through a hedge, over a lawn and knocked a hole in the brick-concrete foundation of the Rivers' home. This was the second time the Rivers' home has been the stopping-place for run-away cars.

Stops Runaway Truck

Marc Bell, 742 St. Patrick Street, reported to city police Saturday that while he was walking along Rupert Street at Heywood Avenue he had to jump into a truck and brake it to a stop after he had seen the driver abandon the moving vehicle.

Bell told police the driver got into another car driven by another man and left the scene. The truck belonged to Walter Walker and Sons, fuel firm.

Aorangi Expected

The Canadian-Australasian Line's M. Aorangi is expected to dock at V.M.D.'s outer wharf Friday night or early Saturday, R. J. Burland of the C.P.R., said today.

The ship was 24 hours late leaving Auckland, and has not yet radioed a definite estimated time of arrival.

City Launches First Housing Health Survey

Scheme To Probe Multiple Units

The first housing survey of its kind in Victoria has been launched by the city health department to determine housing conditions in Victoria's multiple dwellings, according to announcement today from the city health department.

Partial housing surveys have been conducted before but this is the first to employ the self-evaluation system whereby apartment and rooming house owners are asked to fill out a form themselves.

The survey is being made under direction of G. Lloyd Smith, sanitary inspector. Types of accommodation listed on the form are self-contained with private bathroom, apartments with kitchen but no private bathroom, housekeeping rooms and bed-sitting rooms with no cooking facilities.

There are questions on exterior, interior and general matters, including number of single rooms occupied by families with children, number of toilets used by more than three families, number of cooking rooms lacking sinks and number of bathrooms without heat.

Mr. Smith in a covering letter to landlords said information received in the survey would show to what extent the dwellings conformed to standards set in local health regulations.

TO GIVE RATING

"Following this survey, you will be informed of your rating together with our suggestions for improvements."

The self-evaluation type of inspection has become increasingly popular in the U.S., Mr. Smith said.

"The principle behind this type of inspection is the fact that no one knows more about the condition of an establishment than the proprietor himself," he added.

"The form used shows the proprietor the type of thing the health department considers important and it is then up to the proprietor to assess his establishment to decide how close it comes to the health department standards and return the information to the department."

Alcion Wins Virtue Cup

Max Young's new auxiliary cruiser Alcion, Sunday won the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Hein Bank race for the Virtue Cup with a time of six hours, 38 minutes and 30 seconds.

Second was Dr. Jack Stewart's Galatea, which gained the runner-up spot in corrected times, though his time was 11 hours, 43 minutes, as compared with H. A. Wallace's Buccaneer, which took nine hours, 45 minutes.

Fourth was J. M. Green's Halcyon II, with a time of 11 hours, 47 minutes.

In the first race of the Discovery Island series, V. Moore's Hyak was first in the Lightning class, with R. Fraser's Hardack second and Lt. Walter Blandy's Venture third.

There were no finishers in the Snipe class.

Durango Bringing U.K. Passengers

Two passengers from Britain will disembark here Tuesday morning when the Royal Mail Line's M. Durango docks at Ogden Point.

Names of the 26 passengers aboard have not yet been received by the agent, George Paulin Ltd. The 5,325-ton vessel will discharge general cargo here, including more than 100 cars.

The Durango, commanded by Capt. P. M. Burrell, will proceed to Vancouver late Tuesday afternoon.

Another Royal Mail Line ship, the Araby, called here Sunday inbound from the United Kingdom and discharged about 200 tons of general cargo before sailing for Vancouver in the evening.

Barbara Brooks, a young artist with a richly-colored contralto voice, and Marjorie Jones, pianist and accompanist to the Glee Singers, were also soloists. Speech arts were represented by Mrs. K. Roberts and Bob Thomas. Vocal solos were also given by Meth Davies and W. J. Pyrm.

J. Jones lead the Glee Singers in four groups. They revealed a nice-tonal quality, though the balance could have been improved, especially at moments when they were singing a full forte. A bit more shading and contrast would add to the effectiveness of their singing but the spirit is excellent and there is an obvious enjoyment in the work of the group.

Reeve A. I. Thomas, president of the Victoria Cymedon Society, was master of ceremonies.

FORMER PRINCESS CHARLOTTE

Victoria Bids Farewell To Princess Charlotte

There was a touch of nostalgic sadness on the Victoria waterfront Saturday afternoon when the Ss. Mediterranean slipped her lines at Yarrows' Ltd. and sailed out of Esquimalt Harbor.

The departure of the former C.P.R. steamer for Greece was something considerably less ceremonious than any one of her thousands of sailings from this port during her 40-year career plying B.C. coastal waters.

Only a few workmen saw her leave, and there was no ceremony, no farewell waves from the dock—nothing. It seemed an empty occasion, undeserved by the vessel.

Today she is heading south for the Panama Canal, thence to Greece, where she will join the Princess Alice in coastal trade for Typaldos Bros. Spyro Typaldos, one of the partners, was aboard the Mediterranean when she sailed.

LAST LOOK

A local shipping man, one of the few who knew of the departure, drove alone to the Dallas Road waterfront for a last look

Donaldson Ship Here With General Cargo

The black-and-white funnel of the Donaldson Line was on the Victoria waterfront today as the passenger-freighter Gracia discharged 150 tons of general cargo at Ogden Point dock.

Inbound from Britain, she was scheduled to proceed to Vancouver late this afternoon.

R. N. B. Cumberbirch of Rithet Consolidated, Donaldson agents here, said another of the line's passenger-freighters, the Corrientes, will load 300,000 feet of lumber at the same dock Tuesday. Her cargo is destined for the United Kingdom.

Falling Bricks Crush Motorcars

CHICAGO (AP)—Tons of bricks from a three-story brick wall showered into a parking lot here, crushing seven cars and damaging four others.

Officials attribute the wall's collapse to a 23-degree drop in temperature in 35 minutes. They estimate the damage at $16,000. No one was injured.

Toll Of Guerrillas

The Communists lost 1,100 killed and more than 600 captured.

Canada's Goal Closer Relations With U.S. But Not Corporate Union, Pearson Declares

STANFORD, Calif. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said here the closeness of Canadian-U.S. relations should not be construed as meaning Canada is "moving inevitably and happily into union with the United States."

"That is not true," he told Stanford University Commencement Sunday. "We are quite content with our present position of independence inside our Commonwealth of Nations."

"We may, of course, be wrong, but somehow, on other we feel that our political and social and legal institutions are better, for us, than yours would be. We move at a somewhat slower tempo in Canada and we like it that way."

Of the English-French problems, he said: "We consider this experiment too significant for us and for others to endanger it by absorption in any other state."

Mr. Pearson said Canada wished, however, to strengthen and broaden her friendly contact with the United States, which was important to Canada economically.

Authorities said the mother and three children had been "badly" beaten about the heads with "an ax or some other brutal instrument." No weapon was found.

Justices Unanimous On Ducharme's Guilt

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Court of Appeal today dismissed the appeal of Frederick Roger Ducharme, convicted of the Nov. 9 murder of Blanche Fisher.
The five-appeal justices were unanimous in their decision for dismissal of the appeal.
Ducharme is scheduled to be hanged June 30.

Jet Fighters Defeat Mock Bombing Raid

SEATTLE (AP)—A simulated attack by enemy bombers against Pacific Northwest points was repulsed by air force jet fighters today as "Operation Whipstock" moved into its second day.
American air, ground and naval units, together with the R.C.A.F., are participating in the week-long manoeuvres which started Sunday.
Lt.-Col. Theodore R. Clinkscales, assistant deputy for operations of the western air defence at Hamilton Field, Calif., said 150 regular air force and a score or more national guard units are participating.
Col. Clinton D. Vincent, commanding officer of the 25th Air Division (defence) at Silver Lake near Everett is director of the operation.
During the manoeuvres the "enemy" will send B-36, B-50 and B-29 units of the Strategic Air Command against targets in Washington, the northern parts of Oregon and Idaho and western Montana.
The exercises are being conducted at altitudes of more than 20,000 feet and will not be visible to ground observers.
At sea, navy radar picket ships are cruising at various points to spot bombers approaching from the Pacific.
Clinkscales said the purpose of the manoeuvres is to "protect the entire Pacific Northwest, not just on part or section." He added:
"We have to stop an enemy force regardless of its target."

Jail Follows Tall Story Of Desert Crash

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The hero of a flaming plane crash and a five-day trek across sun-parched Nevada desert?
Gosh no, confessed chagrined Allan Lee Pearce, 23, of Oklahoma City. He was a victim of a "lost month" in Reno bars.
It started, he related from a cell in the county jail, when an Oklahoma City brunette—whom he refused to identify—refused to get out of bed to keep a date.
Many drinks later and about $1,400 poorer, Pearce was picked up Saturday night wandering in the desert 40 miles northeast of Reno.
He gasped out a story of a flaming plane crash on a flight from Seattle to Albuquerque, N.M., and of five tortuous days walking in the desert.
Police booked him on a holding charge—investigation of airplane theft.
Why the cock and bull story about the plane crash? Well, said Pearce, "I didn't want my relatives to hear about my situation."
"Say what can they do to a guy for lying?"

Miss Fisher's body was found in False Creek Nov. 9. Ducharme, 37-year-old millworker, was arrested Dec. 5.

The Crown claimed Ducharme, in a fit of rage, drowned the woman after she broke away from him following an "intimate hour" in an automobile parked on the shore of False Creek. At his 14-day trial, he denied his guilt.

LIGHTLY CLAD

When arrested in the Kitsilano district Ducharme was wearing only a raincoat and boots.
Chief Justice Gordon M. Sloan did not agree that circumstances of the arrest Nov. 5 "disclosed the appellant to be a bad character" as contended by counsel for Ducharme.
The Chief Justice said the objection was not well founded; that the appellant was not indecently exposed when arrested nor was committing any crime; that no objection to circumstances of the arrest was lodged when introduced as "Crown evidence at the trial."
He said at the most the evidence indicated an abnormal behavior and while counsel for the appellant specifically disclaimed insanity as a defence, he called medical evidence to support his argument that the appellant was a psychopathic personality.
Of the contention that the appellant was a psychopathic personality, thereby explaining his many contradictory statements, His Lordship said the proposition answered itself.

Counsel, he said, had argued the trial judge erred in not instructing the jury either that the evidence of the appellant must be disregarded altogether or his perjury must not be regarded as a "factor in their determination of the defence he sought to maintain."
His Worship said the trial judge "quite properly" refused to instruct the jury to disregard Ducharme's evidence as the rambling "of a disordered mind."
He said it must be remembered that insanity never was advanced as defence.
The defence actually was, His Lordship said, that Ducharme was with Miss Fisher the night in question, had had sexual relations with her, and that she "came to her death by drowning, either by accident or suicide."

His Lordship said the trial judge "fully and properly" instructed the jury on all relevant aspects of his defence.
"Upon reading the charge as a whole, I am satisfied that both the affirmative defence and the obligation of the crown to prove the case beyond a reasonable doubt were fully understood by the jury."

He said other grounds of appeal advanced, in his opinion, had no real substance.

FIND TROUBLE OF THEIR OWN

AGASSIZ, B.C. (BUP)—A dance in aid of the Manitoba flood fund was cancelled at Agassiz, B.C., Saturday night. It was called off when the men were called out to pile sandbags atop weakening dikes along the Fraser River in the flood-threatening town.

100 Men Fight Forest Fires In N. Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—More than 100 men and several bulldozers are battling northern Alberta forest fires, two of which are running out of control provincial forestry officials said today.

Six new fires were reported during the week-end as warm weather increased the fire hazard in all parts of the province.

The two out of control are north of Fairview and northwest of Grouard. At Fairview, 12 volunteer fire fighters are battling the blaze with the aid of two bulldozers. This fire was brought under control several days ago, but during the week-end broke away again.

A crew of 15 men is attempting to bring the Grouard blaze under control. This fire is threatening timber stands in the area.
Two of the latest fires are in the Edson district. Two crews of 15 men are fighting the blazes. The other new fires are north-east of Lesser Slave Lake and near Grouard. A total of 20 men are doing this fire fighting.

Man Accused Of Murder Surrenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Benedetto Macri, 57, charged with last year's knife killing of union organizer William Lurye, gave himself up Sunday night to columnist Walter Winchell.

The two met at a secret rendezvous arranged by a third party, unknown to Winchell. Then the columnist and radio commentator drove Macri to a Manhattan police station, where he was booked for homicide.

Two hours before, Winchell had predicted on his radio program that he would turn Macri over to police as the climax of a year's radio campaign to induce the Lurye killers to surrender.

Another man indicted in the slaying, 31-year-old John (Scarface) Giusto, a paroled convict, is still at large.

Winchell laid claim in the name of the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund to the $25,000 reward posted by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (A.F.L.). Lurye's organization, after the killing May 9, 1949.

The surrender was almost a duplication of Winchell's success of 1939 in persuading Louis (Leopke) Buchalter, one of the heads of the notorious Murder Inc., to give himself up. Buchalter later was electrocuted.

Lurye, 40, was fatally stabbed in a phone booth in a building in Manhattan's garment centre. He had been directing a campaign to organize non-union shops.

His union, headed by David Dubinsky, set up a $50,000 fund for Lurye's widow and children and posted the $25,000 reward.

No U.S. Cut In Cigarette Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee threw out of its news tax bill today a proposal—once approved—to cut the federal tax on "economy" brands of cigarettes.
The federal cigarette tax is now 1 cent a package of 20 on all brands—regardless of their selling price.
